Boy Admits Five Slayings In California

Teen-Ager Confesses To Murder of Four Children and Mother

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Thomas Pendergast stared at the lanky, pimply-faced youth who had just confessed slaying Pendergast's wife and four children.

"Why did you do it?" he screamed. "They were all I had in the world."

Young Carl Eder slumped in his chair at the police station. His mouth opened and shut several times but no sound came out. Finally he blurted: "I ... I didn't want to, Tom."

The meeting between Pendergast and the 16-year-old runaway New York youth he had befriended came Monday night after Eder had been captured in a beach community a few miles north of San Diego.

Sought Since Friday

Police had been looking for him since Friday when the bodies of Mrs. Lois Pendergast, 37, and her four children were found in their home. The mother had been shot, the children slashed and stabbed with a knife.

The 6-foot-3 teen-ager, whose description had been widely broadcast, was recognized by a resident of Mission Beach and arrested by an off-duty policeman and a lifeguard. After a brief show of defiance the boy started crying and admitted he was Eder and that he had killed Mrs. Pendergast and the children.

"I just flipped," his captors quoted him as saying.

Obtain Detailed Confession

At the San Diego police station, officers said they got a detailed confession from the youth Pendergast picked up as a hitchhiker six weeks ago and took into his home because he felt sorry for him.

They said Eder told them he became angry because one of the children, Diane, 4, was making a lot of noise. He stormed into the

Mercury Dips to 2 But Relief on Way

Marion County finally made it. With an overnight low temperature of 2 degrees above zero, this county was officially the coldest spot in Ohio for the 24 hours ending at 7:30 this morning.

Ironically, the low here for the state was recorded as temperatures generally were substantially higher than they had been for several days.

IT WAS THE warmest night since Dec. 11, when the mercury got down to 6 above in the early morning hours.

But the high Monday was a cool 18, marking the 10th day in which highs have been under the 32-degree mark. On Dec. 5 the mercury stood at 36 at mid-afternoon.

Another "trace" of snow was measured Monday, bringing to eight the number of days this month that snow in some degree has fallen in the area.

RELIEF FROM the long cold wave is on its way.

The weatherman forecast a high today of 29, and the thermometer read a relatively warm 16 at noon. A low of 18 is expected tonight, and Wednesday's high is expected to be an above-freezing 34.

While Marion County had the state's coldest overnight reading, Dayton experienced a low of 7 above. Findlay had 8 and Cleveland, Akron and Toledo 10.

While most of the midcontinent got a respite from winter's bitter grasp, it continued cold in most of the rest of the eastern half of the nation. The weatherman persisted today in forecasting below normal temperatures at least through the next 30 days.

The warming trend, from the Continental Divide into the Midwest, followed more than a week

Sunday Hours At Post Office Are Called Off

Lack of public response to its special holiday hours prompted the Marion Post Office today to drop plans for remaining open Sunday.

"Next Sunday would be too late to do any good anyway," said Postmaster Homer D. Cole, "so we've decided to revise our plans."

However, parcel deliveries will be made to residences all day Sunday and the post office, West Town Station and substations on N. Prospect St. and Bellefontaine Ave. will remain open Saturday afternoon, Mr. Cole said.

The holiday mail rush, which failed to materialize during the weekend, came nearer to expectations Monday afternoon. Mr. Cole said mailing picked up considerably and that the post office staff handled about 112,000 cancellations.

"We expect the peak to hit about Wednesday or Thursday," he said. He added that this means that holiday mailing this year is running one or two days behind normal.

The deadline for assured delivery of greetings cards destined for out-of-state locations was Monday. Christmas mail destined for local and nearby locations should be in the post office no later than Wednesday, Mr. Cole said.

The postmaster urged local patrons to place extra containers on their porches to protect overflow mail from weather damage. "I'm certain mail is lost every year when extra containers are not provided," said Mr. Cole.

Woman Supporting 2 Others Needs Yule Help

Even those who open their hearts and homes to others less fortunate than themselves sometimes find that they are financially unable to carry the burden alone, especially at Christmas time.

This is the experience of Mrs. H., a 68-year-old woman sharing her monthly social security income of $48.60 with two others — a son and granddaughter who have come to live with her.

Her son is without work and his unemployment compensation has run out. The granddaughter is willing to work, but is limited in employment capabilities. The young woman tries to do her share by babysitting and odd jobs, but income from these is insufficient to buy needed clothing.

All three members of the family need shoes. Welfare agencies have been unable to provide used pairs to fit them. The social worker in this case therefore has requested money to buy new shoes for members of the H. household.

Mrs. H. also needs a dress, size 46. Whether it is new or used is of little concern to her, as long as it is warm.

Mediator, Shovel Union Will Confer

A meeting with the bargaining committee of striking Local 1949, United Steel Workers of America, has been requested by the federal mediation service for 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The mediators asked that the meeting be held in the conference rooms at the Marion Power Shovel Co.'s W. Center St. offices.

Today marks the end of the 13th week of the strike against MPS. A week ago Friday, the union and company bargaining units, meeting in Cleveland, reached tentative agreement, on non-economic issues, providing agreement could be reached on the economic issues.

In a mass meeting Friday, the union membership rejected a company economic package offering wage increases totaling 23 cents an hour (including 5 cents granted in May) during the next three years. The compay withdrew the offer at 11 p.m. Sunday.

Big 3 Rip Soviet Pressure On Berlin, Bid for Parleys

Khrushchev Hurls Attack At Ex-Rivals

5 Former High Soviet Officials Are Targets Of Blast by Premier

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has hurled a bitter new attack at the Malenkov-Molotov "antiparty group," blaming it for major shortcomings in Soviet agriculture.

Khrushchev's new blast, made at a meeting Monday of the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee, came after a new press campaign against the five high officials Khrushchev toppled from power in the Kremlin shakeup in July 1957.

Next Move Uncertain

Accounts of the speech today in Tass, the Soviet news agency, gave no indication of whether further measures would be taken against the five men—ex-Premiers Georgi Malenkov and Nicolai Bulganin, former Foreign Ministers V. M. Molotov and Dimitri Shepilov and former economic czar Lazar Kaganovich. All have been banished to obscure posts in the Soviet Union.

Nor was there any mention of Gen. Ivan Serov, who was removed last week from his key post as chief of state security, the Soviet Union's top police official. Serov's future has not been announced, but so far he has not been linked with the antiparty group.

'Disgraced' Associates

Khrushchev claimed Malenkov, Molotov and their "disgraced" associates:

1. "Tried to stifle the patriotic movement for catching up with the United States in per capita production of livestock produce."

2. Opposed the virgin lands project, a pet Khrushchev scheme which he boasted had proved the key factor in bringing a record grain production of 140 million tons this year.

3. Attempted to "revise the party's general Leninist line on basic issues of the country's development." (In this he said they "failed ingloriously.")

4. "Stubbornly opposed for a number of years the realization of important measures in agriculture and thereby retarded the development of the Soviet economy."

The group, he continued, was responsible for "the difficult situation in agriculture that developed by 1953." He accused Malenkov of deceiving the party to cover up his failures.

Khrushchev boasted that despite the shortcomings in various fields of agriculture, the Soviet Union already is ahead of the United States in total production of wool, butter, milk and cotton.

Russia Won't Risk War, Is Dulles' View

NATO Leaders Okay High-Level Talks on Problems of Europe

PARIS (AP)—The foreign ministers of the Atlantic Pact countries today flatly rejected Russian pressure on Berlin but held out the possibility of high-level talks with the Soviet Union on East-West problems.

The Western leaders agreed, however, that such talks could not be successful under the threats of any Soviet ultimatum on West Berlin.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles told his colleagues in the North Atlantic Council that Soviet Premier Khrushchev will not risk war over Berlin.

Can Proceed With Confidence

"Therefore we can proceed with confidence," Dulles asserted. He added:

"We must not give an appearance of success to a bold and reckless move. In this respect he (Khrushchev) is like Hitler — if we give him an inch, he will take a mile."

The ministers also agreed to advise the Russians that the big Western Powers are ready to negotiate at a high level for a general settlement of the problems of Europe.

These would include reunification of Germany with Berlin as its capital, European security measures and disarmament questions, a Norwegian diplomat reported.

A NATO spokesman said the majority of the 15 foreign ministers agreed with Dulles' position. He described the broad lines in this way:

"Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's proposals are unacceptable. The West must stand firm and cannot tolerate the unilateral violation of international agreements. The West is agreed that it is always ready for discussions on the reunification of Germany."

Further Talks Slated

The ministers decided there would be further consultation by the Big Three after the NATO sessions to determine how to frame replies to the Berlin notes from Khrushchev. Preliminary consultations have already begun.

The keynote of the morning session, the NATO spokesman said, was "the complete and unqualified solidarity of the alliance in support of the three powers principally responsible for Berlin."

The annual meeting of the 15 NATO foreign ministers opened with (1) Britain and France screaming at each other about trade discrimination; (2) the United States and France quarreling openly about military policy; and (3) Greece, Turkey and Britain disputing over Cyprus.

Chiang Studies Reports Mao Is Stepping Down

Red China's Leader May Quit Post Soon, Nationalists Are Told

TAIPEI (AR)—President Chiang Kai-shek and other Nationalist Chinese leaders were reported to have conferred today on reports that Mao Tze-tung is vacating the post of chairman—or president—of the Chinese Communist government.

The reports, originating from underground sources in whom full trust is placed here, had it that Mao would not be renominated for election as government chairman at the meeting to be held at Peiping in January.

There was no particular surprise caused by the fact that the reported decision was not publicly announced at the close Monday of the party Central Committee conference.

This is taken here to indicate that the party has still to decide how to break the news so that it will not appear that Mao, who will retain his post as party leader, is being downgraded.

Also, the party wants to educate special groups to the idea of Mao stepping out before springing the news on the people.

The general belief among Nationalists is that the 65-year-old Mao, founder of the Chinese Communist revolution, is on the way out to retirement.

There is speculation that Marshal Chu Teh, 72-year-old soldier turned politician, would succeed Mao.

California Launching Slated

New Missile Base Set for Operation

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A 10,000-mile-an-hour Thor missile waited on a launching pad today for the signal that will blast it hundreds of miles out over the Pacific.

The launching will be the first from the Air Force's new missile base here on the California coast 150 miles north of Los Angeles.

The exact time of the firing is secret. It could be today. It might be later.

Ready for Business

When it does come, the blastoff of this intermediate range (1,500 mile) ballistic missile will give notice to the world that Vandenberg Air Force Base is ready for business.

The first shot is expected to be little more than a test of new launching and tracking facilities. Soon thereafter the Air Force will try to throw 1,300-pound satellites into orbit around the poles of the earth—perhaps as often as once a month.

Study Safety Techniques

Some of the satellites will carry mice and perhaps a monkey. The Air Force will try to bring the animals back to earth in recoverable capsules.

The idea is to develop techniques to insure man's safety when he first ventures into space, perhaps late next year, from the Atlas and Titan launch pads now under construction on this 64,000-acre base.

Insofar as the public is concerned, Vandenberg's activity will be similar to that at Cape Canaveral, Fla. Missiles and satellites will take flight from both. Vandenberg, however, is primarily a base to train personnel for operation of missiles under combat conditions. Canaveral is chiefly a research and development base.

Some research and development work will take place at Vandenberg too.

Resort Homes In Path of Fire

Year's Biggest Brush Blaze Hits California

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP)—California's biggest brush fire of the year burned through towering brush today toward a home-studded canyon.

Two miles of 15-foot-high brush and scrub oak separates the fire from Trabuco Canyon, a resort area where more than 200 homes are located. Hundreds of firemen including Marines and soldiers from nearby bases, were massed ahead of the blaze.

Diminishing winds helped the fire fighters during the night. The 38,000-acre fire is now controlled around half of its 70-mile perimeter.

Earlier strong desert winds whipped the flames toward the sea and to within five miles of the historic mission town of San Juan Capistrano.

4 Explorers Rescued

BRUSSELS (AP)—A Soviet pilot found four Belgian explorers who crashed in the antarctic and flew them back to their home base today.

Moscow radio said, "All four are well."

The four are members of the Belgian expedition taking part in the International Geophysical Year. They took off Dec. 6 to establish a scientific station. They crash-landed their small plane in the Crystal Mountains.

Leads Shopping Safari

Youngster Wins $1,000 Buying Spree as Prize

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP) — You're a 10-year-old boy and a stranger catches you on your front porch and hands you $1,000 you've won in a nationwide contest to name a rocket ship. But you've got to spend it all that day, he says.

What would you do?

Philip Bertetta was the calmest member in his family when this happened to him.

"Gosh," he said. "I thought I'd lost."

Group Starts Out

His father Dr. George Bertetta, a veterinarian, had to leave for his pet hospital. So Phil and his mother and assorted hangers-on from press, radio and television started out.

First to the bank, where Andrew McConnell, manager of the American Trust Co. here, took the banker's view.

"Phil," he said, "you'd better take care of your income tax first."

"What's income tax?" asked the boy.

At the Internal Revenue Service he parted with $62.50.

For most of the day he led the safari through the shopping districts.

Plane First Choice

First choice was a gasoline-powered model airplane, and with this under his arm he looked over the electric trains and chose a small new model complete with track, station and all equipment.

"Take a bigger one," someone said. "You can afford it."

Economic Rift Develops at Paris

French Hit Free Trade Policy for West Europe

PARIS (AP)—France appeared today to be backed into a tight corner in her stubborn fight against the British plan to turn Western Europe into a free trade area.

France wants to keep British competition out of the Common Market, which goes into operation Jan. 1 with France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg as members.

Threaten Trade War

Britain threatened a trade war Monday if the Common Market is not expanded to include the 11 other West European nations of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation.

The possibility of a trade war apparently cost France the full support of her Common Market partners.

After nearly 14 hours of negotiations, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville admitted in substance, "France is isolated."

First Cutback Due Jan. 10

Sir David Eccles, president of the British Board of Trade, beamed to reporters. "We are 100 per cent satisfied," he said. "We've got just what we wanted."

The Common Market institutes its first 10 per cent tariff cutback Jan. 1. The six will also increase import quotas among themselves by an over-all figure of 20 per cent and quotas on each individual item will be at least 3 per cent of the national production of the item during 1958.

Journey of the Magi to Jesus

Three Are Chosen To Follow the Star

Editor's Note: The "Three Kings of the Orient" were in fact kings only of knowledge—professional scholars more advanced than any others in their age. But their decision to search for a Divine King was not welcomed by all their learned colleagues. Here's a description of their odyssey, second of five articles on the Magi's Journey to Jesus.

By GOERGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

The caravan stood in readiness. It had taken nearly three months to prepare for the 1,200-mile journey. Shouts of leather - shirted cavalry officers mingled with the bawl of animals as supplies were loaded.

Somewhere . . . somewhere in Judea . . . was the destination.

The chief camoleer rushed about, yelling instructions and gesturing violently, as sweating slaves hoisted rope crates and grain bags to the backs of kneeling freight beasts. Dust swirled in the bright Persian sunlight.

Blankets, tents, foodstuffs, water casks and other necessities, along with chests of rare treasures, were stowed on the wooden pack saddles, divided equally by weight on either side, and bound to the uprights.

Since it would be a rigorous trip, only about 400 pounds of cargo, two-thirds the usual maximum; was placed on each camel. A crowd of jostling townspeople looked on, women veiled in their chadors; dark, hirsute men with laughing eyes.

Second of a Series

"A fool's expedition! Those greybeards chase the wind."

BEHIND A brick wall, inside the palace of the royal Magian Council, a circle of white-gowned men sat around a fire, staring silently into its leaping flames.

Among them were the three (the number and their identifications are matters of divergent ancient accounts, but the most common listing is used here) who had determined to track the genesis of a star.

They were Melchior, pale, old, white - bearded; Gaspar, a tall, ruddy young priest, and black-skinned Balthasar, of medium age and stature, whose ancestors may have come to Persia in the days when its empire stretched to Ethiopia.

Not all their fellow Magi condoned this quest to honor a hypothetical "Blessed One" of alien birth. Nor would they, as the ensuing years proved, accept its validity. It smacked of national disloyalty.

But the tenacity of High Magus Melchior and his supporters had overcome this narrow view. The strange mission was decreed.

Seeking Divine guidance, the counsellors sat now to "contemplate the beams of the fire with a most pious mind." So their prophet, Zarathrustra, had taught. So Moses heard God on fiery Sinai and in a burning bush.

Finally, the group rose and filed out of the altar room. After farewell embraces, the three travelers donned their turbans and fur-trimmed cloaks, strode out to the waiting train and mounted their dromedaries.

"KHIKH!" The gutteral command burst from the camoleers. They jerked at the halters, and the beasts rose, growling, to their feet. The troop of mounted bowmen moved forward, the golden eagle of Persia fluttering on their banners.

The long trek was on.

In what city the march began is uncertain, but since the Magian priesthood served as one of the two councils to the king, it may have been at Hecatompylos, the northern capital "of a hundred gates."

Or, they may have left from the winter castle in Ctesiphon, with its stately domes and arcades, or from the former hundred-columned capitol at Persopolis, or the once-sovereign western city, Susa.

THE JOURNEY TO JERUSALEM as pictured in John of Hildesheim's story of the Three Kings, published in 1484, shows them wearing crowns and approaching a walled town. Although they were known to the Middle Ages as "Kings," the Magi actually were professoinal scholars, and "kings" only of knowledge.

At any rate, despite some traditions saying each of them came from different places such as Media, India, Tharsis, Arabia, Nubia and Ethiopia, this is flatly refuted by the Apostle Matthew who cites a single homeland—"their own country."

The overriding evidence is that this was Persia. In the original Greek, Matthew's gospel specifies the "Magi," who at the time of Jesus' birth and for centuries before were widely known as the learned, priestly caste of Persia.

Matthew's original language also connotes "the Far East," and comparisons with other documents of the era show this was the common phrase used for the area of Persia, since it then was under a Parthian dynasty.

The weight of tradition agrees. It may be that other nationalities sometimes mentioned refer to racial backgrounds, since in the past heydey of Persian empire, their regions had been included. Some still were.

THUS, THE venturesome Magi, leaving behind Persia's barren expanse of Drangiana with its salt-water lakes and yapping jackals, traveled on through the wooded foothills of the Zagros.

The caravan climbed the steep trails into the mountains on Persia's western rim, and descended into the lowlands beyond. Wild boars, cheetahs and other carnivores infested the area, and bulbuls sang from the box trees.

The military escort was supplied as a routine to such royal entourages, even though the fratricidal King Phraates IV, dominated by an Italian concubine he called "the godess Musa," had no taste for the mission.

The squadron of helmeted archers, with their fine-limbed horses, led the column down into the plain of Appollonaitis, on past the proudly independent city of Seleucia beside the Tigris, and as far as the Euphrates bridge.

For them to go farther might have appeared warlike. The Magi and their retinue of servants likely continued from there alone. A long, hard road, of many months, lay ahead.

They tramped on. The saddles chaffed their legs; the sun burned their skin and dust caked their eyes. The trip took six months to a year, other travel logs of the period indicate.

What kind of men were these who discerned a still small voice, and pursued it across a continent?

The annals of that time tell of their knowledge and insight.

Philo, then an Alexandrian philosopher, said the Magi "behold the books of nature with more acute perception than usual." A contemporary Roman scholar, Apuleius, calls them "Divinely wise."

The Wisdom of Solomon says the Magi "seek for God being conversant with His works." The ancient Greek geographer, Herodotus, said that in all the world's ignorance was one shining exception—the truth-loving Magi.

Many other ancient scholars, Plutarch, Diogenes, Laertins, Pliny, all speak of the Magian acuity. They were official tutors of princes, Persian and Parthian alike.

BUT NONE OF this explains the impetus that took them hundreds of miles, in broiling heat of day and chill of night, across the wide Syrian desert to Haleb or Tudmor, and on along the dusty highway to Damascus.

They camped at night in their black goat-hair tents, for it would not be fitting for regal personages to stop in foreign hostels, with their dancers, boxers, knife-throwers and comedians balancing underfed infants atop poles.

The brilliant star they had seen "in the east" or more specifically translated "at the rising" apparently did not guide them, for Judea lay to the west beside the Mediterranean—not to the east.

Part of their secret may have been in their "Zendavesta," the hoary, mystical record of which only one of 21 books survive. Or it may have been in the labyrinthine, dateless processes of the past linking their stored-up lore and monotheistic beliefs with Judaism, and its yearning for the king of kings.

Whatever the explanation, the Magi's final decision was precipitated by a star, and as Ignatius described it in the First Century, it "shone in heaven beyond all other stars. . . . Its light was inexpressible. . . . Men's ignorance was taken away."

It was in that instant, in a flare of intuition and conviction, that the Magi had known heaven had touched earth. So they traveled on and on, south along the great trade route from Damascus, along the eastern shore of Galilee, across the Jericho ford over the Jordon and to Jerusalem.

They arrived there, not with any map or preordained itinerary or directional signals, but with the burning force with which they started—the force that outruns all transient knowledge—their faith.

Next: "Where is he?"

Rites Are Set Saturday for TV 'Kingfish'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Harry R. (Tim) Moore, 70-year-old Kingfish of the Amos 'n Andy television series, will be buried next Saturday.

He died Saturday of tuberculosis.

But, as colleague Freeman Gosden put it, "his comedy will carry on."

Seventy-nine TV films in which Moore appeared are re-running in scores of U.S. cities.

Moore joined Gosden and Charles Correll when they converted from radio to TV. Gosden played both Amos and Kingfish in the original radio series.

The veteran Negro actor had been a jockey and professional boxer. His last camera appearance was in 1953. Recently he had been a master of ceremonies at a Los Angeles night club.

Moore, at the age of 12, left his native Rock Island, Ill., to join a vaudeville troupe. He played in "Blackbirds of '28" on Broadway and went through Europe with the show. He returned to the U.S. in the late 30s and toured with a comedy act accompanying name bands.

Last March Moore and his second wife, Vivian, almost parted in a domestic battle over a roast beef he said Vivian's relatives had eaten. He was jailed for firing a gun—then let off with a suspended $100 fine.

He tried retiring once, only to return at 58 to become the Kingfish.

After his spat with Vivian, Moore remarked:

"A man who's got three score years and 10 behind him ought to retire. And that's just what I'm going to do."

He didn't, though.

Rule Defendant Insane

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Ralph Clayton Woodgeard, 39, awaiting grand jury action on a first degree murder charge in the death of his brother, was insane at the time of the slaying, psychiatrists at Lima State Hospital report. The brother, Orville, 38, was shot five times and had his throat slashed Oct. 1. The psychiatrists' report said Ralph was suffering from alcoholic hallucinations at the time. Police said Ralph asked Orville for money and became mad when he received only $2. The brothers lived in Dayton.

4-Day Strike Ends

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Production has resumed at the Portsmouth Division of Detroit Steel Corp. after a four-day strike idled 600 of the 3,000 employes. Strip and mill workers returned to work Monday after a wildcat strike which union officials are now trying to straighten out. Employe differences are involved, plant officials said.

Infrared rays are being put to numerous uses, including the brooding of chicks in the United States and the heating of cathedrals in France. The presence of this invisible light was discovered by Sr. William Herschel more than a century and a half ago.

The Most Sensible Thing on Earth

In the current Saturday Evening Post, Sumner Slichter arrives at the well reasoned conclusion that business, labor and government are now in a three-way contest for power.

But in his newspaper column, Victor Riesel, the labor reporter, says there is a move afoot to bring business and labor into an area of agreement by making some of their leading spokesmen better acquainted with one another.

Riesel quotes Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Arizona Republican who survived organized labor opposition in the 1958 election, as being in favor of bringing labor leaders and business leaders together before they exhaust themselves in a political showdown, at the expense of voters who want to be helpful to both.

In a political showdown between two of the three contestants for power, the probable result would be the triumph of the third. Government would take advantage of the executives to tighten its hold on both of them.

This would happen, moreover, through the steady infiltration of unionists and managers into government — the very thing unionists have been doing so successfully through their efficiency in politics that businessmen now are hoping to duplicate organized labor's success.

In effect, organized labor has challenged unorganized management to become organized so the two — labor and management —can fight it out in the back yard of the third contestant for power. Thus, government would be a referee as well as a contestant and could throw its influence to whichever side seemed to be winning.

Going still further into the probable outcome of a showdown between management and labor, while government increased its power over both and over the country as a whole, an American voter would be in danger of losing the benefits of the two-party system.

He would be confronted with a choice between extremes, instead of a choice between two similar parties, each trying to represent all elements of opinion. For the long-range preservation of labor's gains and the long-range prospects of business growth, both parties should comprise both the managers of business and the managers of labor. In no other way can they exert maximum influence over the politicians whose technique is to play off one against the other — the classical pattern of power politics.

The most sensible thing on earth, if prejudices could be cooled off, would be a truce in America in the Old World's transplanted war between workers and managers. Contrary to Karl Marx, the conflict between man is not irreconcilable. It never was, and it is susceptible to more mutual agreements on more points today than ever before.

Labor and management have the same interest in productivity, to save jobs for labor and markets for management, against the competition of foreign producers. They have the same interest in the intelligent use of mechanization and automation — the same interest in protecting themselves against undue interference and regulation by politicians.

Both are members of the same production team, whose efforts provide the wealth that gives the United States its high standard of living, after government has subtracted its share. Labor leaders and businessmen thus share a common interest in keeping the government's share from increasing more rapidly than their joint efforts can produce the wherewithal to pay it, with enough left over for their own needs.

Poor befuddled Marx never dreamed there would be a country in which workers would be capitalists and capitalists would be workers. He thought it was their destiny to fight each other to the bitter end, so he and the other parasites of public affairs would be the top dogs.

Ironically, that is exactly what some of the members of the all-American production team are squaring off to do, unless someone stops them in time.

Golden Goose Eggs in Demand

Opposition to another increase in the federal gasoline tax is being organized by American Automobile Assn. and refiners and distributors. The trucking industry and suppliers of road-building materials and equipment will back them, too, as well as automobile manufacturers.

Their objection is founded in well justified fear that revenue from gasoline taxes will become more important to government officials than the continued good health of the activities that supply the revenue. They must keep the sharp demand for golden goose eggs from killing the goose.

In the case of federal revenue, as has been pointed out by Clyde T. Foster, board chairman of Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, golden eggs already are being diverted from highway building to general fund expenditures — a practice once followed in Ohio, until highway income and outgo were separated from the state's general fund. Mr. Foster says last year the federal government diverted a billion and a half dollars of its $3,600,000,000 gasoline tax income to purpose other than highway construction.

He demands, therefore, that all federal gasoline tax income be used for highway construction; that no further increase in gasoline taxes be legislated lest the price of gasoline become so high it would produce less money for highway construction. It is significant that auto manufacturers are beginning to stress fuel economy and that buyers of small cars are motivated strongly by higher gas mileage.

Here is one of government's knottiest problems. Government wants revenue. The automobile industry is a prime producer of revenue. But auto users want something for something when they pay taxes — and chiefly they want better highways. As they see it, there is a direct connection between what they pay and what they get. But in Washington, the connection is between what can be collected from auto users and what the federal government needs for all its costly operations.

Unless Congress can be forced to use all automobile gas tax revenue to build roads, there will be nothing to keep the spenders from doing whatever they please with the income.

The Bell-Ringers

The annual Marion custom of having service club members man the Salvation Army kettles one Saturday before Christmas is an excellent idea.

The benefits are plural, not singular.

From a practical standpoint the major objective naturally is to collect as much money as possible for the Salvation Army, which in turn will make excellent use of it in bringing some measure of Christmas cheer to needy families.

In line with this principal aim the service clubs have been doing an outstanding job and certainly deserve a vote of thanks from the community for their assistance.

Beyond that, however, duty on the kettles gives the club members a realistic insight into what service at the basic level means.

They obtain true appreciation of the sacrifices made by regular Salvation Army personnel in helping their fellow men and women.

For the benefit of the uninitiated, standing in near-zero cold beside a kettle is no picnic. Last Saturday the service club people were quite willing to yield their places to the next twosome after a one-hour stint. Duty there for much longer periods comes under the heading of real heroics.

None of the men and women from the clubs who man the kettles ever passes a Salvation Army kettle the remainder of the Christmas season without registering inward applause for the bell-ringer.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Lo, the poor commuter! He expects little and gets it. His life is a round of depot-lot parking troubles, train delays, changed schedules, fast shaving, swift breakfasts, late dinners and constant worry over this question: "If I am an hour late getting to work and only a half hour late getting home am I breaking even?"

All over the country railroads are crying "Get lost" to the commuter.

ICC member says that in a few years a railroad that carries any passengers will be rare.

A New York commuter is a special breed requiring ability to do the four-minute mile, endure the quickie Grand Central cocktail and become accustomed to the abrupt notice "Everybody off. This train is out of order."

HE LEAVES EACH morning full of misgivings and gets home at night in worse shape than a combat trooper who has crossed No Man's Land in both directions on a pogo stick.

His anguish is now increased by the railroad cry of "Who wants you?" For an encore he settles for his wife's tearful, "Why did we leave the big city and move out into the country? We should of stood in bedlam. It's noisier but not so heartbreaking."

Lackawanna, Lehigh and New Haven roads now threaten to dump commuters soon if they don't get help from federal, state and city governments. Hurrying to the 7:03 the commuter moans:

Once the railroads dearly loved me—
For my trade they went quite wild;
Now it's "Scram" they cry so loudly,
"You are just a problem child."

IT'S GETTING SO the fireman says to the engineer "There's some commuters ahead. Put on speed and pretend you don't see 'em." Commuter is late to work, late getting home, late realizing he lives too far from his job and late appreciating the fact that the public endures pouring millions of dollars into thruways to steal business from railroads but is slow to shed a tear for the rail lines.

He moved to the suburbs to get life among birds and bees but got the "bird" in higher assessments, higher taxes, flooded cellars and probably a letter from a town manager saying "Thank you for calling your swamped home to my attention. So what?"

But, at that, his plight is no worse than the railroad's. They are in the "When A Feller Needs A Friend" situation. The locomotive whistle is a cry for help.

U.N. COMMITTEE is out with news that fish can be located by listening devices. It says that in Africa it's been known for centuries that by sticking an oar down and cupping one's ear over the handle angler could hear fish talk. We wish we had to use an oar to hear U.N. delegates and committee talk.

A Dreaded Companion

Votes Are the Payoff

By Raymond Moley

Republicans, soundly beaten, are now searching for the formula that will bring victory in 1960. They might well look to sources of wise politicking: The AFL-CIO COPE and the Conservative party in England, Both of these political groups stress organization, with a minor note on policy.

Many Republicans, however, are madly looking for some sweet elixir of words as a party faith, or for a shining figure of a candidate —experience in politics unnecessary — to keep the party in the White House and to put it back in Congress.

Here is the fatal fallacy of American conservatives, most of them sound, practical, and successful in all walks of life — except in politics.

I would be the last to deny that Republicans need a short, explicit statement of principles — something sharply opposite the spend-giveaway - more - government formula of liberal Democrats and of their pals and supporters, the AFL-CIO and the ADA.

TO SUPPLY such a statement of principles, however, should not be difficult. It could be said in the space occupied by this column and could be written just as quickly.

But people are not going to come flocking to the polls because of a rhapsody of words. Americans are wary of words and promises. If in 1952 and 1956 words could have won, Adlai Stevenson would now be finishing his second term.

Nor do I completely ignore the need for fresh, new Republican candidates. This was proved in many a congressional race last month.

But organization is the thing. There should be the introduction of more systematic, vigorous precinct work everywhere, more dependence on professional year-around, paid employes.

THERE SHOULD BE more personal contact with men and women — on the doorsteps, in the living rooms and kitchens, over the fences and in the shops and saloons of America. That sounds simple but it is also very hard work.

The AFL-CIO's COPE and the successful British Conservative party know this system and have practiced it with miraculous success.

Also, they know they should not waste time trying to convert the opposition. Their job has been to get at sympathetic but lethargic voters by personal contacts and to get these people to the polls on election day.

The figures in four British elections show this.

There was no great diminution in the Labor party vote in 1950, when the Conservatives defeated more than 150 Labor members of Parliament who had been elected in the great sweep of 1945.

In 1951, when the Conservatives got an MP majority of their own, Labor still had more popular votes over the nation. The figures in 1945 were 12 million Labor votes to 10 million Conservatives.

In 1950 Labor, while losing most of their MP majority, polled nearly a million more than the Conservatives. In 1951, Labor got 700,000 more than in 1950 but they lost their majority in the House of Commons completely.

What happened? Conservatives, through a very efficient organization, concentrated in constituencies where they knew there were many middle-class people, many of them former Liberals, and practically conceded to Labor the districts where the big Labor vote was concentrated.

Power in Britain is not based on a national popularity contest. It comes from electing more MP's than the opposition.

This is the sort of thing that Republicans must understand if they are ever to recover control in Congress and retain the White House.

100 Useless Horses

By Frank Tripp

Have you ever taken inventory of the useless things you own; things that were useless to you when you bought them? Plenty of us own at least 100 useless horses—that's right, horses.

They are under the hoods of our cars, and cost us dearly. We bought them because we had to, if we had a car.

Our fathers, who were willing to earn their comforts, got along without these racing stables. They shifted gears, the hard way. We can shift without effort, automatically, still must have hundreds of idle horses standing by.

In one decade there has developed a senseless prejudice against a simple mechanical principle that can multiply or reduce a car's horsepower and speed almost without limit—gears.

As a speed-mad, money-drunk generation became soft and shiftless, their cars had to be shiftless too. Needless horsepower has been added to take the place of gears. Gear shifting, though made effortless, became irksome. Drivers became robots and the highway slaughter multiplied.

YOU CAN PUT 500 horsepower under a car's hood and still have nothing, usable within the law, that gears cannot accomplish with 150 horsepower, or less. All of the necessary power and usable speed would be there; at a sizable reduction in selling price and operating cost.

It wasn't because Americans are too dumb to shift that gear shifting became frowned upon. It is because they're lazy—and dearly love to boast of having the mostest of everything.

So when we got effortless gear shifting and the endless possibilities it offers, builders went right on adding the needless horsepower that makes cars more costly, and more dangerous.

The sucker public must buy a sawmill power plant to run a mixmaster; fuel it, race it around the country, and brag about it. It only has to be wrapped up in a slinky, weasel-like package, with its belly on the ground, and a mortgage on its back.

SOMEDAY A smart cookie will come out with the really roomy American car that millions of families are waiting for. It will have half or less the horsepower of today's cars and do the same tricks; for anyone with the ambitions to push a button.

Through gears, automatic and noiseless, it will do anything today's cars do, gracefully and well; could sell for much less and operate far below present costs. Its styling could be anything designers choose; as rakish or conservative as whim demands.

Conceivably it could shift its own gears, as automatically as modern cameras adjust their own lens aperature and shutter speed via the eye of their light meter. The fundamentals exist.

It could even apply its own brakes and control its own speed, with better sense than some drivers. It could refuse to crash another car, run down a pedestrian or plow through a guard rail. It could reduce car tragedies by half.

A dream? Need not be, for it can—and will—be done. What a market awaits it!

Half of the car market is getting fed up on the belly-slammers; with their tail wings spread and all of their room outdoors.

Sensible owners are tired of paying for power and speed that they cannot use, and stay out of jail—or a casket.

They are ready to swap their car's "back porch" for legroom; its igloo doorways for headroom; its excess horsepower for a little horse sense.

When the showoffs get wise, or go broke, the biggest seller will be the car that economically fulfills a family car's basic function —comfortable, sane transportation.

Anybody want one?

Target Practice

So many problems arise in judging the motives of our fellow folks —is it true love or infatuation; generosity or a tax gimmick?

A glance at the gifts available for the man who has everything indicates that the thing he might appreciate most would be just being left off the list this year.

People forget the horrors of war so quickly!! Creamed chipped beef on toast appears on the best bills of fare these days.

Challenge to Spenders

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

How high is up? Or, what's President Eisenhower's idea of big spending?

On Nov. 5 — at a news conference the day after the Republicans' election disaster—he protested against what he called the big spenders among the Democrats.

He told the newsmen his last two years in the White House would be devoted to economy.

But government spending under his administration has been going up steadily since 1956 and this year is running at a record peacetime high of nearly 80 billion dollars.

AND THE DEFICIT—the difference between what the government gets in revenue and its expenses—will be about 12 billion dollars, according to official estimates.

One of the main reasons for the deficit, of course, was the recession, which reduced individual and corporate income and thus meant a drop in tax revenues.

But Monday, after a White House conference with Eisenhower on his programs for next year, Republican congressional leaders came away figuring that spending next year will be around 80 billion again.

But they said Eisenhower is determined to balance the budget—meaning, to make spending no greater than revenue—if possible, and may do so. It's quite an if, especially with no indication of any move to boost taxes.

BUT THE GOP LEADERS challenged heavy spenders in Congress to go along with the balance.

This repeated Republican tactic —of referring to big spenders in Congress while Eisenhower's administration keeps spending at a peacetime high—is beginning to look thin and sound monotonous.

It's just a hope and a guess that Eisenhower can spend 80 billion and balance the budget too.

If the economy continues its upward movement next year, the government should get more revenue than this year. But, even so, will it be enough to match the outgo?

Twelve days ago the No. 1 tax man in Congress—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, where all tax changes start —said he expected government revenue next year to be around 78 billion dollars.

That would mean two billion less in revenue—and therefore a continuing deficit—below the 80 billion in spending Republicans said Eisenhower is thinking of for next year.

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said after Monday's meeting with the President: "I think they (the Eisenhower administration) will submit a balanced budget."

HE ADDED that if a balance is upset or a deficit increased, it will be on the "shoulders of the wild spenders in Congress, and there are plenty of them."

At this point we're being treated pretty much to political talk. The real meat-and-potato financial talk begins in January when Eisenhower submits his programs and budget to Congress, where figures will have to speak for themselves.

When those figures are turned loose, some of the Democrats may scream Eisenhower is the big spender. At least, that's the way it was early this year after his budget reached the Capitol.

Sen. Harry Byrd (D-Va), an outspoken economy advocate, protested at the time: "I call the new fiscal program for the coming year reckless."

Wool Gathering

By Truman Twill

Every time I feel good about the sheep wool business that has been thrust upon me by life in Rosy Fingered Dawn, Science slaps me down.

This time, it is a report of a newer and cheaper synthetic than Science ever cooked up before.

The newest synthetic is something they scrape off the sides and bottoms of the vats and stew pans in which higher-grade goodies are made out of petroleum.

When they get it perfected, it will be even better, says Science, than any of the preceding synthetic fibers.

In the meantime, nothing has been done with my proposal to cook sheep wool under the auspices of Science so it can be turned into a synthetic fiber itself, and thus regain the place it once held. Sheep wool is going to have to continue to be what nature intended it to be in the first place — a natural fiber that grows out of the skin of a sheep, Science has by-passed it. It is too easy.

This is something for a thrust-upon sheep farmer who has been caught by inclement weather with a barnful of hungry sheep to brood about while watching them eat his way into bankruptcy.

There are two rays of hope in an otherwise dismal prospect. The first is that their wool is growing longer and heavier day by day and will be prime by next May, when the time comes to sell it for the customary song so sharpies can wash it, spin it and mix it with synthetics to sell for as much an ounce as the dumb producer gets for whole fleece.

The second is that the prospective mothers in the flock keep getting more prospective each day and will be ready for accouchement during what probably will be the coldest weather in the memory of man, along toward the end of February.

This will be a small stop-gap in the disappearing sheep population of the United States — a symbolic spitting-in-the-face of Science, which is hell-bent on wiping out sheep by growing fibers faster than they can.

This is small comfort when the Twillery flock lines up for a hearty supper — an unbroken row of wooly posteriors attached to a row of anteriors stowing away scarce hay and expensive mash.

For all the good a sheep is in this modern world, it might as well be a dog. Its virtues have been made as obscure by Science as the one-time virtues of man have been made by ghost-writers, ghost-thinkers and public relations experts.

About all sheep are good for is counting. I mean whenever I get to the number "24," which is a fourth again as many sheep as I had intended to feed this winter and half again as few as I have got stuck with, thanks to unseasonable snow and assorted adversities.

Thanks, Science, for the news about a still newer, still cheaper, still better synthetic fiber. This one should just about do to sheep what progress did to the buffalo.

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — William Hohenzollern, former German emporer, refused to leave Holland after official representations had been made to him that his stay would likely involve the country in serious difficulty and that his "voluntary departure would be a matter of gratification."

Reports were made that President Wilson "might" spend the Christmas holidays in Germany. He said at a meeting of notables that "The United States entered the war not only because they were moved by a conviction that the purposes of the Central empires were wrong and must be resisted by men everywhere who loved liberty and right, but also because the illicit ambitions they were entertaining and attempting to realize had led to practices which shocked our hearts as much as they offended our principles."

Dr. Sidino Paes, president of the Republic of Lisbon, was assassinated and the murderer was lynched immediately by a crowd which witnessed the shooting.

20 YEARS AGO — The Buckeye Stages bus station formerly located on N. State St. was moved to the Union Bus Depot at 130 E. Center St. in order to offer more centralized bus service.

Affairs of the Marion National Bank, in receivership since December of 1931, were officially brought to an end, Receiver Grover C. Snyder announced.

Diplomatic tensions between the United States and Germany mounted with hints that retaliatory measures might be invoked if American property rights in the Reich were further jeopardized by anti-Jewish and other confiscatory decrees.

10 YEARS AGO — Formal announcement was made by trustees of the Marion Veterans Memorial Fund that final negotiations had been completed to purchase the Haberman homestead at the junction of Delaware Ave. and S. Main St. for a veterans home.

Heavy rains sent rivers and streams out of their banks in Marion and other Ohio communities. Some Marion and Wyandot county highways were flooded and 10 other Ohio counties reported roads under water.

Women's Groups Hold Christmas Musicale, Tea

The Women's Club Home was the setting for a Christmas musicale and tea Sunday afternoon. Hostesses were the Art, American Home, Community Service, Literature and Music Departments of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs and attending were more than 50 members of the federated clubs and guests.

The theme, "The Madonna," was carried out in the decorations and program.

A large tree, decorated in red and blue lights and tinsel was in the reception room and on the mantel and throughout the rooms were statues and pictures of the madonna. Music was by the Federated Ensemble. Miss Elizabeth Ammann gave a talk on madonnas and Mrs. Forest Flockencier gave a Christmas story. Miss Alice Caulfield, dean of departments, presided.

IN HER TALK Miss Ammann gave the story of the madonna, its use as a symbol and its significance in story, legend and art. She concluded with a story "The Juggler of Notre Dame," after which she showed slides and pictures of madonnas done by well known artists.

Mrs. Flockencier's Christmas story was "The Christmas Dinner" by Mark Hager.

The ensemble, directed and accompanied by Mrs. Cecil W. Davis, sang two groups. These included "Noel," "Bells are Ringing," Chenoweth, "Shepherd's Song," Elliott, "Jesus in a Manger," a Polish melody, "A Wondrous Light," Strickland, "The Virgin's Slumber Song;" Reger and "Angels We Have Heard on High," an old French melody.

In the spirit of the season, Miss Caulfield, on behalf of the departments, presented a portable chalkbulletin board to the school for retarded children. The gift was received by Mrs. Paul D. Lister, instructor at the school who expressed appreciation of the teachers, children and council for the gift. Mrs. John Lightner, a member of the council, paid tribute to the dedicated teachers and friends of the school and announced the sale of Christmas candy and fruit cakes, a project of the school. The proceeds are used to provide necessities to carry on the work of the pupils.

CHRISTMAS greetings from Mrs. Smith H. Witter, president of the Federation, and the singing of carols by the group, accompanied by Mrs. Davis, completed the program.

Christmas motifs were repeated in the dining room where Mrs. Witter presided at the tea table centered with a modernistic arrangement of the Nativity, done in white in a setting of pink angel hair and red and pink Christmas balls. Lighted candles and greenery on the buffet completed the decorations. Here, as in other rooms, the guests found interesting paintings and madonnas.

Guests included Mrs. Lister and Mrs. H. W. Davis, instructor in the sheltered workshop at the school.

Decorations were by Mrs. Richard Hyll, chairman, Mrs. Isabelle Sutherland, Mrs. Paul Knauss and Mrs. W. D. McGee and in charge of the exhibit of madonnas was Miss Elizabeth Conley. The exhibit of works of famous Italian artists from the New York Graphic Art Society was shown by Miss Mabel Wheatley. These illustrated the subject of the madonna. The creche in the library was by Mrs. Robert Erickson.

Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. J. Edwin Probst, chairman, and her committee made up of members from the five departments.

Members of the voice ensemble are Mrs. Flockencier, Mrs. Stewart Vermillion, Miss Ammann, Mrs. L. Harrison Ludwig, Mrs. Henry A. Mickley, Mrs. J. B. Holloway and Mrs. C. H. Indoe.

Santa's Matrimonial Bureau Is Open Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Santa Claus' matrimonial bureau is back in business and the woman who started it all has been invited to place her order again.

Identifying herself only as "the lonely widow," she dropped a letter into the big red mailbox designed for youngsters' letters to Santa last year. In her letter, she asked for a husband for Christmas.

When her plea received wide publicity, about 200 other men and women put in similar requests. The city recreation director, Nick J. Barack, mimeographed a list of their names and addresses and sent a copy to each.

Two marriages resulted, but no further word was received from the original lonely widow. Barack —now jokingly called "St. Nick" —put up a special mailbox Monday, promised to compile another lonely hearts list this year, and urged the lonely widow to give it another try.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Sometimes you give excellent advice. Other times you sound like a knucklehead. The latest example of knuckle-headism was your advice to "Had It." You told her to leave her relatives alone. "If you can't get along WITH them" (quoth the mighty Landers) "then learn to get along WITHOUT them."

Believe me, Ann, I'd like nothing better than to leave my relatives alone. But how can I when they won't leave ME alone?

I haven't been inside my brother's home for three years. Yet he and his fat wife and their three kids come over almost every Sunday (at dinner time).

My mother-in-law is a regular boarder — three times a week, rain or shine. She lives two blocks away and I swear she can smell a roast from that distance.

She hasn't had me for a meal in five years — says her stove is broken.

I have two nieces whose mother is too sick (spelled L-A-Z-Y) to fix them lunch. The school is three blocks from me so I have them five days a week.

No one ever says hello, goodbye, thank you or drop dead.

I get no help with the dishes. They never bring so much as a wiener.

Sometimes I think the only solution is to shoot all relatives. What do you say to that?—UP TO HERE.

Dear U.T. H.: I say put on your bullet-proof vest — YOU are a relative to THEM.

If you permit these free loaders to pile in on you day after day, week after week, year after year — without so much as a hello or a goodbye or a drop dead — then it's YOU who is a knuckle-head, not me. .. ..

People who let themselves get kicked around and abused, then cry buckets because people take advantage of them, get no sympathy from me. If you're "Up To Here," don't just lie there ... SAY SOMETHING.

'Gifted' Wife

Dear Ann: I would like to comment on your reply to Hattie — the woman who complained because her husband didn't remember her birthday or anniversary.

How right you were, Ann, when you told her to quit moaning, that such things aren't really important. And how courageous of you to take this stand.

Gift-giving has become a sacred cow. To suggest that it's not really important, in this day of ultra-commercialism, is suicide.

My husband never forgot a single birthday, anniversary or holiday. And there were plenty of flowers and boxes of candy in between.

I found out after 18 years of marriage that he had women everywhere. His gifts were only gimmicks to cover a guilty conscience.

The best gift a husband can give his wife — plain old loyalty—I never had. And my name is legion.—GIFT-"RAPPED."

Breakfast Serial

Dear Ann: Our 17-year-old daughter has a girl friend who stops for her on the way to school every morning. Betsy comes straight to the breakfast table and makes herself right at home. Both my husband and I find their incessant chatter nerve-wracking.

I've asked my daughter to tell Betsy to please wait in the living room since she doesn't seem to know that some people like privacy.

She says it would be an insult and that her girl friend would get mad at her.

My husband is disgusted with the whole thing. He thinks Betsy is ill-mannered and should be told. Can you help? — PUZZLED MOTHER.

Dear Puzzled Mother: Betsy IS ill-mannered, and she SHOULD be told. Give your daughter two days in which to tell her. If she fails, greet Betsy at the door, hand her a couple of magazines and say, "Make yourself comfortable in the living room, please. Mary will be with you when she finishes her breakfast."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Italian Boy Is Adopted By Residents of Marion

A two and one-half-year-old Italian boy has been adopted by Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Sansotta of 311 Pennsylvania Ave.

The youngster, named Mario, arrived in Columbus Nov. 13 in the company of a nurse attendant. He came all the way from Rome, Italy, by plane.

The orphaned child, adopted through an Italian agency, was greeted upon arrival by Mr. and Mrs. Sansotta and their daughter, Gina, 4.

Marion already is picking up several English words, his new parents report. Among these are "hello" and "boodby." One of his greatest delights is playing in the snow.

Seven Killed in Crash

NORTH SMITHFIELD, R. I., (AP)—Seven men, including five executives of a New Jersey concern, were killed Monday when their company-owned plane crashed in a swamp during a snowstorm.

The pilot, copilot and five executives of the Johnson & Johnson Co. of New Brunswick, N. J., were en route from Linden, N. J., to Boston.

Revision of Local Foundation Constitution Ready for Action

A Marion Community Foundation committee charged with preparing revisions in the foundation's constitution and by-laws today announced completion of its work. The changes will be submitted to the organization's board of trustees for approval Jan. 15.

Under the constitutional revisions, the responsibilities of the board of trustees are more sharply delineated and the offices of first and second vice president replace the position of assistant to the president.

All matters concerning money allowance, increase and reduction of budgets, including payments to agencies, will be handled by a budget committee, heretofore termed the advisory committee.

In other new stipulations the date for the annual Community Foundation meeting is changed from May to January.

Six nominations for members on the board of trustees presently are made by a nominating committee appointed by the president, and three by the council of participating social agencies. Under new revisions, the nominations for all nine positions on the board will come from a nominating committee appointed by the president.

Other technical changes appear in the body of the constitution also, but in general represent clarification of duties and objectives.

Copies of the revised constitution are on file at the Community Foundation office, 149 S. Main St., and may be examined by board members or other interested persons between now and the Jan. 15 meeting, Dr. Philip W. Smith, Community Foundation president, said today.

Members of the constitution committee who made the revisions are J. E. Oliphant, chairman; Dr. W. Nell Price and Louis B. Conkle.

Woman Saved After Night in Wrecked Car

MORRIS, Ill. (AP) — No one saw the auto skid, slam into a snow bank, then topple upside down into an eight-foot ditch.

And no one heard the feeble cries of Mrs. Loretta Dunn, who struggled vainly to free herself from the wreckage.

Her clothes offered little protection against the below-zero cold and Mrs. Dunn, 56, was wearing no gloves.

The minutes following the accident at 10 p.m. Sunday stretched into hours. Still no one came.

At dawn, Arthur Trotter, 33, driving his milk delivery route, spotted the wheels of Mrs. Dunn's car in the ditch. He rushed over. Mrs. Dunn was conscious, he said, but then lapsed into a faint.

Doctors at Morris Hospital said she was suffering from shock and exposure, possible fracture of both legs and partially frozen fingers, feet and face.

Mrs. Dunn, told police that she lost control of the car when an oncoming truck splashed mud and snow on her windshield, blinding her vision.

Her condition was reported fair. Doctors said she will not lose any fingers or toes.

National Foundation To Spend 2 Million Dollars on Education

NEW YORK — As one of the first major steps in its expanded health program for 1959, the National Foundation today announced that it had allocated nearly $2,000,000 in March of Dimes funds for education in the health professions.

This is the largest sum ever earmarked at a single time for educational purposes in the 21-year history of the health organization, according to Basil O'Connor, president.

More than $1,200,000 of these funds will provide scholarships and fellowships which Mr. O'Connor said will help "offset the critical manpower shortage which now endangers the health of many communities across the nation."

Included in the appropriations is $300,000 to launch the foundation's new health scholarship program. Through this program, 505 young Americans annually will be offered four-year college scholarships for basic training in five health fields.

Other appropriations announced today provide fellowships for advanced study in medicine and the related biological and physical sciences, in orthopedics and in physical and occupational therapy. The goal of these fellowships is to supply new teachers as well as graduates in health areas where there is now an acute shortage of professionals.

Nearly $600,000 was awarded to universities, institutions and professional associations to spport teaching and recruitment programs in the health fields. The largest single grant, for $167,250, will go to Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, Tex. It will help finance a three-year pilot project in developing methods of teaching medical students the basic techniques of rehabilitation.

Similar projects are already being underwritten by March of Dimes grants in 14 other medical schools across the country. The aim of this program is to train future physicians to aid victims of chronic disease and disability which are rapidly becoming the nation's biggest health problems. The March of Dimes organization has recently expanded its program beyond polio to include two other serious cripplers, arthritis and birth defects.

Plans for Annual BIE Day Started By Manufacturers

Plans for the 1959 Business-Industry-Education Days program for high school seniors were discussed at the regular meeting of the Manufacturers Council Monday noon at Hotel Harding.

The Chamber of Commerce group directed its Industrial Leaders Council to proceed with the plans for the program and to invite city and county high school teachers to tour local plants this year. The program consists of tours of local plants for the city high school seniors and the commercial seniors in the rural schools. Teachers have not participated in the plant visitations during the last two years.

In other business, the secretary, Hugh E. Webster, reported that the board of directors of the Chamber approved a proposal of the group to form an economic discussion group. The plan is to invite representatives of other types of business operation, such as retail merchants, realtors and automobile dealers, to participate in the organization.

Local business and industrial trends were discussed round-table fashion and the consensus was that there continues to be a gradual but steady increase in business activity and that except for the struck Marion Power Shovel Co. plant industrial employment is nearly back to normal and in some cases is above normal.

A report on national affairs was submitted by H. J. Grigsby.

Oil Company Employes Attend Christmas Party

Two employes of the Bonded Oil Company's service station here attended the company's annual Christmas banquet in Springfield Monday. It was highlighted by the presentation of bonuses and awards to employes.

Attending from here were Lowell Pritchard, the station manager, and Johnnie Collins, the assistant manager.

More than 200 Bonded employes were present from the company's tri-state marketing area of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky. Over $31,800 was distributed in the form of bonus service awards, retirement certificates, prizes and gifts during the party.

A Bonded employe from this area, George Allemang of Marysville, was one of 12 new members who received the company's retirement trust and life insurance certificates. Each received special recognition on having completed five successful years with the company.

Commissioners Okay Purchase of Machinery

Purchase of two pieces of road equipment for the county engineer's department was approved Monday by the county commissioners.

The commissioners accepted a $7,000 quotation from the Huber-Warco Co. for a small grader and a $6,050 quotation for a retractable wheel roller.

Huber Warco, in turn, agreed to purchase from the county a used wheel roller at $3,850 and two cement mixers for a total of $200.

The county's purchase is made from the road maintenance and repair fund.

$900 Received in Back Taxes by Auditor Here

Maurice Clements, Marion County auditor, noted today that he has received more than $900 in intangible taxes from county residents over the last three weeks.

The money, owing on investments for s far back as 1956, is being sent in in answer to letters mailed to some 300 residents who were in arrears on such payments, from the State Department of Taxation.

The money, to be distributed to the local library, city, villages and county, should total slightly more than $3,000 if all of it is received, Mr. Clements declares.

Extension Being Sought For Tax Deadline Here

County Treasurer Marion E. Hinklin said today that property owners undoubtedly will have until March 1 as usual to pay real estate taxes for the first half of 1958.

He issued this statement to clarify confusion which arose Monday from an announcement that the county commissioners had extended the tax deadline from Dec. 20 to Jan. 20. According to law, that extension must be obtained before the treasurer can apply for a further extension from the State Department of Taxation, he said.

The treasurer said he has applied for the second extension and anticipates that it will be granted as usual. Tax books will open about Jan. 15, he said.

Sent to Lima Hospital

Dale Vern Simpson, 64, of 244 N. State St. was committed to the Lima State Hospital today for a 30-day observation period. Simpson was indicted by the grand jury last July on a charge of taking indecent liberties with a 9-year-old boy. He was committed from Common Pleas Court.

Case of Pacifist Pastor Stirs Up Controversy in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—A war-hating pacifist clergyman who pitted his conscience against federal court—and lost — has become a controversial figure among Episcopal churchmen here.

The Rev. M. F. Arnold in a sermon Sunday took both defendent and the U. S. District Court judge to task for their courtroom actions.

The Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin was convicted last Friday on a charge of ignoring a summons to confer on his income taxes.

And before setting a six month prison term and $250 fine on the charge, Judge John H. Druffel scored the pacifist minister and pacifists in general. He said the pastor is associated with the Fellowship of Reconciliation which has "overwhelming Soviet sympathies."

The judge said Monday the U.S. Supreme Court ruled 11 years ago that a judge has authority to search the background of a defendent.

He said, "It would be idle to sentence someone without saying why you're doing it."

The Rev. Mr. Arnold said the judge's courtroom statement was a "viciously false accusation by deliberate statement and by innuendo."

The Episcopal minister said the Fellowship of Reconciliation is a pacifist group of the Christian church and is headed by an Episcopal bishop.

As for the defendent, the pastor said he "is a sincere man of strong principle who had illegally and unwisely taken the law into his own hands and sought to witness to a belief that was is evil by refusing to pay income tax."

He said the Rev. Mr. McCrackin "foolishly refused to comply with the government's request to stand up and testify as a true pacifist would have, but chose instead to make himself a martyr . . . ."

He added he thinks the sentence was just and deserved.

Court-appointed lawyers for the Mr. McCrackin have not indicated whether they will appeal the conviction.

Auto Skids Into Bus, Driver Killed, 15 Hurt

CLEVELAND (AP) — An automobile driver was killed and 15 bus passengers were injured today in a head-on collision on the Berea Freeway near Rocky River drive.

The car was driven by Eugene Cameron, 31, of Cleveland, who was dead after being trapped for more than an hour in the vehicle.

The injured suffered only minor cuts and bruises. They were taken to Berea Community and Fairview Park hospitals. Several other passengers were shaken up, but refused hospital treatment.

About 30 passengers bound for downtown Cleveland were aboard the bus, owned by the Berea Bus Line Co.

Bruce Vaughan, 23, of Lakewood, driver of the bus, said the car skidded on the icy pavement, jumped over the center line and struck the bus head-on. Vaughan was not hurt.

Marionite Agrees To Abide by Court Restraining Order

An Ohio State Bar Association suit to restrain a Marion man from the practice of law here was settled out of court Monday.

Defendant in the action was Francis Cowgill, doing business as Universal Invention Sales. He denied that he had practiced law but agreed to enforcement of a court order restraining him from practicing law, directly or indirectly, effective Jan. 1.

The suit was filed last December by Phillip K. Folk, counsel for the state bar. He alleged Mr. Cowgill had provided legal services concerning patent procedures although he is not an attorney and has not been admitted to the practice of law in Ohio.

Mr. Folk charged the defendant with holding himself to be legally qualified to render opinions, counsel and advice concerning patent applications; with counseling and advising customers concerning legal requirements of patents, and preparing contracts for the sale of inventions, both patented and unpatented.

Mr. Cowgill was represented in the action by J. C. A. Arter Sr.

Man Is Bound to Jury On Charge of Assault

Lowell H. Cray, 23, of 124 Forest Lawn Blvd., charged with criminally assaulting a 20-year-old Marion County woman, was ordered held for the grand jury today after entering a plea of not guilty in Municipal Court. His bond was set at $1,500.

Cray was picked up for questioning by sheriff's deputies at 3:30 a.m. Sunday. He was formally charged Monday.

2 Causes Cited for High Death Toll in Chicago School Blaze

CHICAGO (AP) — A delay in sounding a fire alarm and a mix-up in street addresses are cited by Chicago's fire commissioner as two of the direct causes of the deaths of 89 pupils and three nuns in the Our Lady of the Angels School fire.

Had fire fighters reached the school as little as three minutes earlier, Robert J. Quinn told a coroner's jury investigating the Dec. 1 fire, there might have been no lives lost.

Firemen were able to save 160 children, he added. Many of the victims were trapped in their second-floor rooms by heavy, black smoke.

Quinn said that there were "definite discrepancies" as to when the alarm was sounded.

"There were three persons inside the school building who knew of the fire and did not give an alarm immediately," he declared.

He apparently referred to the testimony of Miss Pearl Tristano, 24, a fifth grade teacher, who said she and one of her pupils smelled smoke between 2:35 and 2:40 p.m. She notified a teacher in an adjoining room. The teacher hunted unsuccessfully for the mother superior.

Miss Tristano said she sounded the school alarm, but only after she had led her class out in fire drill formation. The school alarm does not ring in the Fire Department office.

When a telephoned alarm did come at 2:42 p.m., said Quinn, the address given was that of the rectory, half a block from the burning school. Firemen had to waste precious moments, he said, asking where the blaze actually was.

Asked why the Fire Department did not sound an extra alarm as soon as it knew a school was afire, Quinn answered: "It's a good suggestion, but in a case like this, if he had sent 500 companies on the first alarm, it wouldn't have done much good.

"In fire fighting you win or lose in the first few minutes."

Earlier, Robert J. O'Brien, chief of the city's Fire Prevention Bureau, said he believes the fire burned in the school 20 minutes before it was noticed.

Christmas Bonus Paid By Meat Products Firm

All 25 employes of Wyandot Meat Products, Inc., in Nevada have received Christmas bonsues, George Lichvarik, general manager, reported today.

He said the bonsues were presented Saturday night during a Christmas party at Hotel Harding.

In awarding the cash gifts at the dinner program, Mr. Lichvarik told employes that 1958 has been the greatest year in sales since the business was established in 1949. He added that the company anticipates broad expansion during the coming year.

Entertainment for the holiday program included a carol singing fest, recitation of Christmas poems, and several games.

Top Mediator Pressing for Settlement of Newspaper Strike

Walkout Hits 9 Big Dailies In New York

Talks by Publishers With Deliverymen's Union Deadlocked

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators, deadlocked in disagreement, try again today to end the continuing shutdown of nine major New York daily newspapers.

Joseph F. Finnegan, top national mediator, meets again with the striking Newspaper Mail and Deliverers Union and the Publishers Assn. of New York City against a backdrop of pessimism and mounting losses on both sides.

The publishers association said after Monday's talks: "There was no effort on the part of the union to come back to the bargaining table as an alternative to shutting down the press of the world's greatest metropolitan area."

Asher Schwartz, attorney for the union, told newsmen: "The main stumbling block is the unwillingness of the publishers to discuss any of our proposals."

The 4,500-member deliverymen's union struck the papers a week ago in a dispute over wages and working conditions. The walkout followed a rank-and-file rejection of a $7-a-week wage package offer that had been tentatively accepted by union negotiators.

Schwartz said the Deliverers' Union, which originally asked a $10 weekly wage package, is now willing to take the publishers' $7 package spread over two years—provided other contract benefits are included.

The basic wage for deliverymen is now $103.82 a week.

The union has also modified its demand for a reduction in the 40-hour work week, Schwartz said. Instead of a 35-hour week as originally asked, the union is prepared to accept a 37-hour week, with the reduction in hours spread over two years, he said.

A publishers spokesman called the proposal for a shorter work week fantastic.

Christmas

The granddaughter and her father, too, should have additions to their meager wardrobes to see them through the bitter winter. They both could use sweaters.

The situation in the H. home is not uncommon among the cases listed in the Give-a-Christmas Clearinghouse files. With so many jobless and the winter one of the coldest in years, the plea for warm clothing is heard from many quarters.

People ask not for luxuries to brighten their Christmas, but the bare necessities of life to help sustain them until warmer weather or new employment arrives.

To give a Christmas to families such as these, cash or other contributions may be made at the Junior Service Guild sponsored clearinghouse. The clearinghouse is open daily except Sunday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. It will continue functioning until noon of Dec. 24.

South Koreans Get 'Matador' Atomic Missile

SEOUL (AP)—Matador guided missiles have been brought into South Korea, the United Nations Command said today.

The announcement, in answer to a press query, noted the Matador can be armed with an atomic warhead.

The announcement did not say whether nuclear warheads had been brought in with the Matador.

A U.N. spokesman had no comment on the whereabouts, or number of Matadors and when the missiles were brought in.

The U.N. Command told the Communists at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission June 21, 1957, "that the United Nations Command is taking appropriate steps to replace the outmoded weapons presently in the hands of its forces in the area with new items, as the Communists have already done in the area north of the demilitarized zone."

The armistice forbade the introduction of new weapons by either side. But the U.N.C. repeatedly charged the Communists with moving in jet bombers and fighters and other modern combat equipment. At the time of the armistice there were no planes in North Korea.

The introduction of the Matador conforms to the policy laid down at last year's meeting, the U.N. statement said.

Matadors also are now operational on Formosa.

Early this year the U.N.C. acknowledged that the Allied forces in Korea have been armed with atomic capable weapons such as 280 millimeter atomic cannon and the Honest John atomic rocket launcher.

bedroom and threw the girl on the floor, cutting her head.

Mrs. Pendergast rushed up, took the child into the bathroom to bandage her and told Eder to call a doctor. Instead, the youth got a pistol from the garage and came back and shot the mother.

He killed Diane and her brother Allen, 2, by cutting their throats with a hunting knife. And when David, 9, and Tom, 6, came home from school he killed them the same way.

Waiting Outside

He was waiting outside when Pendergast came home from his job as an aircraft worker and forced him to drive him toward San Diego before the father had a chance to enter the house and find out what had happened.

He left Pendergast at a service station in San Diego. About the man who had befriended him, he said: "I didn't want to kill him. He's been real good to me."

Eder said he had been sleeping in a ballroom closed for the winter since Friday. He was spotted while walking on the boardwalk near the ballroom.

of zero cold and snow. However, temperatures generally were below seasonal levels in most areas and snow was in prospect in Northern sections.

It was colder in much of the East and South and more snow piled on top of already snow-covered areas. Freezing weather prevailed in the Carolinas and across northern Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. More frosty air nipped northern Florida.

The cold showed little moderation across the Great Lakes region southward through the Ohio Valley, the central Gulf Coast states, and along the Eastern Seaboard. However, a little warmer weather was indicated.

It was freezing at Tallahassee, Fla., early today and near the freezing mark in Cross City, Fla.

U.S. Diplomat Stoned by Mob In Iraq Capital

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — William M. Rountree, U.S. assistant secretary of state, is to hold talks today with Iraqi officials despite a violent reception from street mobs who threw mudballs, eggs and a rock at him.

Rountree was greeted Monday by "go home" howls from thousands. The limousine he was riding in was splattered with mud and a window cracked by the rock. He was unharmed.

Many of the youths in the mobs apparently had been led to believe that Rountree came to try to resurrect the pro-Western royal government which was overthrown July 14 by a military coup.

Rountree's schedule includes a talk with the leader of the coup, Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

He is scheduled to leave Thursday, after staying longer than originally planned. He has toured Middle Eastern nations for the past week.

A violent anti-American campaign, partly fomented by the powerful Iraqi Communist party, has been under way in Iraq for weeks.

When Rountree flew in from Cairo after talking with President Nasser, troops whisked him off the airfield by a rear gate to avoid several thousand persons massed at the main entrance.

The United States thus far is identified in the popular mind here with Premier Nuri Said, who died in the July revolt that destroyed King Faisal's pro-Western regime. One of Rountree's first tasks must be to remove this misapprehension.

The diplomat got to the Sovereignty Council to sign the visitors' book before the mob caught up.

Depot Employes To Get Pay Boost

Wage increases ranging up to 13 cents an hour were approved for Marion Engineer Depot employes Monday by the Army-Air Force Wage Board. They will be effective for the first pay period after Dec. 30.

Approximately 500 employes and supervisory personnel at the depot will be affected.

The new wage schedules are based on a survey of Marion area wages made in November. The wage board periodically reviews pay schedules to see that they conform with wages paid in industry in areas in which federal installations are located.

Held for Auto Theft

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Police are trying to trace owners of cars stolen in at least six other Ohio counties and sold here with ficticious out-of-state titles. They are holding James J. Prinz, 32, of Zanesville under $5,000 bond on an auto title fraud charge. He has also been charged with auto theft in Mansfield, officers said.

Country Club Names Three New Trustees

Taft, Leffler, Minard Are Elected to Board Of Operating Group

Election of new trustees was the major item of business as the Marion Country Club operating company and holding company held their annual meetings Monday night at the club.

Named to the operating company board for three-year terms were Jackson H. Taft, Dr. William B. Leffler and Robert M. Minard.

Other Board Members

Retiring trustees are Robert A. Bagley, the outgoing president; Joseph H. Casey and John A. Maxwell Jr. Holdover board members are Lewis Ashworth, E. Stewart Norris, M. V. Cornell, Morgan E. Burke Jr., C. L. Baxter and Dr. Carl A. Sheehe.

Paul Frye is the secretary and Charles D. Harmon has been an ex-officio member of this year's board as immediate past president.

Mr. Bagley presided for the business meeting, in which highlights of the year were described by the president and by committee chairmen.

Mr. Ashworth, vice president and building committee chairman, reported that work on the clubhouse addition had been seriously delayed by the unusually cold weather. Completion now is tentatively scheduled for May or early June, he said.

Staff To Stay On

He suffered a minor neck injury and she suffered injuries to her neck and right arm. Both were taken to a doctor's office for treatment.

The car which struck their car from the rear was driven by Curtis Sheppard, 53, of 689 Kenton Ave., police said. He said he tried to stop, but the car apparently skidded on icy, wet pavement.

A car driven by Carl E. Gianero, 32, of 419 Blaine Ave. was struck from the rear in the 100 block of E. Center St. at 9:40 p.m. Driver of the other car was O. L. Moster, 52, of near Marion, police said. He told police his car skidded on the ice into the rear of the other car.

A car driven by Mary M. Reed, 45, of 179 Harrison St. skidded into the rear of a car parked in the 200 block of Niles St. at 6:47 p.m. The parked car was owned by J. H. Johnson of 277 Niles St.

Each of the other two accidents in the city caused less than $100 total damage, city police estimated.

3 Vehicles in Crash

Two trailer - tractor combinations and an auto were involved in one of three county accidents reported today by Marion post patrolmen.

The three-vehicle smashup occurred at 6 a.m. Monday on Rt. 4 three miles north of Marion when a northbound auto driven by Beatrice W. Schnarrenberger, 35, of Bucyrus skidded into a disabled combination parked along the highway.

Patrolmen said the driver applied her brakes when she came up behind the abandoned truck, but the car skidded into it and grazed off, striking a southbound combination.

According to the report, the moving southbound vehicle was driven by Edward Roslan, 37, of Cleveland. The disabled combination had been driven by William R. Myers, 34, of New Cumberland, Pa.

Officers said the Schnarrenberger car was badly damaged in the mishap while only minor damage was done to the two combinations.

Myers was charged with failure to display safety equipment on a disabled vehicle and the automobile driver with failure to stop within assured clear distance.

Both cars involved in an accident at the intersection of Rt. 4 and County Rd. 26 five miles north of Marion were considerably damaged Monday at 5:38 p.m.

Patrolmen said a westbound auto driven by Ralph Baker, 54, of Wharton, traveling on the county road, pulled onto Rt. 4 into the path of a southbound car driven by Floyd Patrick, 27, of 1048 N. State St.

Baker was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

A Marion man's car was considerably at 9:15 p.m. Monday when it failed to make the turn at the deadend of County Rd. 174, and, crossing County Rd. 26, plowed through a farm fence.

According to the report, the northbound auto was driven by Earl Simpkins, 50, of 776 E. Mark St. The damaged farm fence was owned by Roger Kepford of near Marion.

Patrolmen said Simpkins was charged with failure to obey a stop sign. The accident occurred five and one-half miles northeast of Marion.

"This is the one I want," he stated, moving on.

He next acquired a toy radio (space model), a windup toy racer, a sports car instrument panel, a space helmet and some model plane and car kits.

"You've spent only a hundred dollars, Phil," warned a company representative. "You have to go faster than this."

Hands Pastor $50

He did. He asked to be driven to his church, where he gave the pastor $50. "For the poor children," he said.

At a department store he bought two television sets, one for his parents and another for his grandmother, who had encouraged him to enter the contest in the first place three months back.

He still had $265 left.

In a bicycle shop he bought a shining new bike when his mother pointed out his old bike was getting too small.

Next he bought a big doll.

"What's that for," he was asked.

"A little girl in the hospital," Phil replied.

He bought some more model airplane kits, a record player and a toy cannon.

Writes Two More Checks

At home he wrote out two more checks. One to big sister Gail, 13, for $25, and one for brother Jerry, 7, for $20.

"I'm giving you my old train," he told Jerry, "and that ought to be worth $5, so I'm just giving you $20 in money."

Then he cleaned out the $1,000 with a check for a $100 Savings Bond, and some donations. One went to his mother to buy presents for the rest of the family, another for presents for his class at school.

Fight Brewing Over Top GOP Posts in Senate

Rejection of Bridges' Peace Offer Predicted By Kentucky's Cooper

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky today predicted rejection of a peace offer by Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire in a brewing battle over Republican leadership in the Senate.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, voiced hope something can be worked out to avoid splitting Senate Republicans, whose strength has been cut to 34 by the Democratic election sweep last month.

But Cooper pledged a "no compromise" fight.

One of Ten in Group

Cooper is one of 10 Republican senators who voted unanimously Monday to offer their own candidates for GOP floor leader and four other party leadership posts, including the one Bridges holds.

The 10, who claim additional support in the Senate, are strong backers of Eisenhower foreign policy. Most consider themselves liberals, although leaders of the insurgent group backed away from any such tag for their movement.

Bridges, the senior Senate Republican, is backing Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to succeed retiring Sen. William F. Knowland of California as Republican floor leader.

Has Differed with Ike

Like Knowland, Bridges frequently has differed with the Eisenhower administration on some phases of its foreign policy. Dirksen, regarded as a conservative, has in recent years been a backer of much of President Eisenhower's foreign policies.

Told of the Cooper group's action, Bridges said he hoped differences could be adjusted before the Republican caucus meets in January to elect officers.

"I hope something can be worked out so there will be some representatives of all elements in the leadership," Bridges said in talking with newsmen.

Would Accept Kuchel

Bridges said he thought Dirksen was the logical choice for GOP floor leader. But he said he would accept Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, one of the insurgents, as GOP whip. That's the post Dirksen now holds.

But this got a cold reception from Cooper.

"We have made our decision," he said in an interview. "That decision is we are going to make a fight for the leadership with no compromise. We are going to submit our slate and that includes the post of floor leader."

The group has not yet picked any specific candidates, but is expected to do so when it meets again Dec. 30.

Bridges said he wants to continue in his post as chairman of the policy committee rather than seek the floor leader job.

New Mayor Sworn In at Prospect, 2 Named to Council

Harry Reynolds was sworn in as mayor and two new councilmen were elected when the Prospect Village Council met Monday night.

Mr. Reynolds succeeds George Landon as mayor of the village. He formerly was president pro-tem of the council. Mr. Landon submitted his resignation at the last council meeting on Dec. 1. Present for the swearing-in ceremony were Mrs. Reynolds and Mr. Reynolds' father.

Two vacancies on the village council were filled. Ralph Roberts had resigned at the last meeting and Mr. Reynolds' seat was left vacant when he advanced to the position of mayor.

Ray Stiffler and Carl Oehler were chosen by council to fill the two vacancies. They will take office at the next meeting.

The appropriation ordinance for the coming year was adopted. Another ordinance to regulate parking in the village was tabled until the next meeting.

Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

Esteban falls through a trap door into the bedroom of a mole. Esteban tells the mole about the professor's plan to kill all the fairies and asks for help. The mole tells him the Snuke will take him to Santa Land where he can get help.

Chapter 11

A TRIP UNDERGROUND

"Don't you agree," asked the mole, "that the Snuke can get you to Santa Land?"

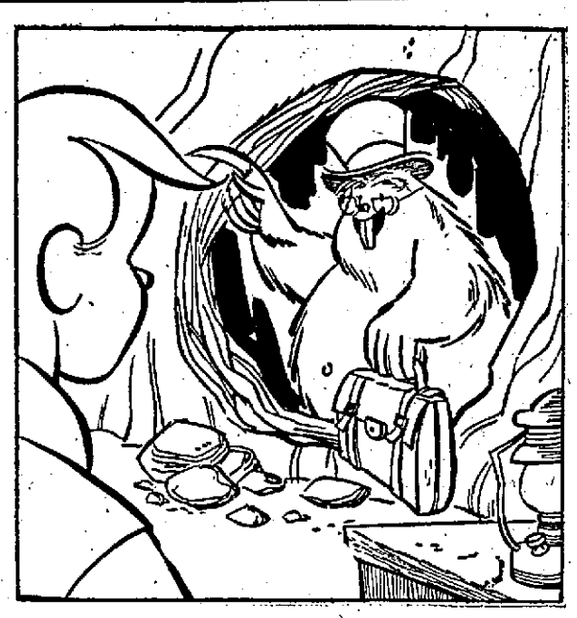
"Pardon me," faltered Esteban, "but I never heard of the Snuke."

"Good gracious! Don't ever let him hear you didn't know who he was. He is very sensitive."

"Yes, sir," said Esteban. "But who is he?"

"He is my cousin. He lives in the sea instead of on land and where I dig through earth he digs through ice. So you see he is the very one who can get through all that ice in Santa Land."

"Wonderful!" cried Esteban.



"I Will Take You to the Snuke," Said the Friendly Mole.

Then his face fell. "But, how will I find the Snuke?"

"That's easy," replied the mole. "I will take you to him. We have wonderful roads. I'm a road engineer, you know, and my brothers and I have built fine roads that circle under this whole land.

"Come with me now. We'll take this short cut I just made from the main road."

—:—

WITH THAT he snatched up his brief case, put on his top hat and disappeared through the hole in the wall. Esteban stared at the hole in dismay. Squeezing himself as small as he could he would never be able to get through.

After a moment the mole reappeared. "Come on!" He beckoned impatiently.

"B-but I-I'm too big!" stammered Esteban.

The mole clicked his tongue in exasperation. "Tch, tch! I forgot about that. Well, never mind. I'll get help and we'll make the roads larger."

He disappeared and presently Esteban heard the familiar scraping sound. But this time it sounded as though a whole army was scraping.

Suddenly the whole side of the room did break open and the mole bounced in and said, "Bring the lamp and come along."

—:—

ESTEBAN snatched the tiny lamp from the table and crawled into the large hole. Ahead of him he could see a thousand moles digging furiously to enlarge the tiny roads.

They worked so fast it was all Esteban could do to keep up with them. Lying on his stomach he held the lantern in one hand and pushed himself along with the other.

Presently the moles stopped their work.

"Are we there?" said his friend. "We are stopping to eat. Moles eat an enormous lot, you know. We have to in order to keep up our strength. Here, have a snack."

He opened his brief case and took out a triple-decker caterpillar sandwich. When Esteban refused, the mole gobbled up the sandwich himself while up ahead the other moles lunched.

—:—

WHEN THE meal was over the work began anew. Three more times the moles stopped to eat, but when they stopped the fourth time the fat little mole said, "Here we are, we have reached the sea."

Now the moles tunneled upward until they broke through the surface and daylight flooded the hole.

The little fat mole popped out

Blaze Destroys Crawford Area Family's Home

BUCYRUS — A Holmes-Liberty area couple and their seven small children were left homeless today by a fire which destroyed their two-story frame farm home and most of their household goods Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Stander are staying with relatives after the fire burned their home to the ground. An overheated furnace was blamed for the fire. Damage was estimated at several thousand dollars.

Mr. Stander and his wife, Fairlean, got the family outside a few minutes before the front of the house was in flames. Two children, James, 8, and Charles, 7, were attending classes at Holmes-Liberty School while a third school age child, Ruth, 6, was at home ill with the mumps. The other children are Larry, 5, Gary, 4, Roger, 3, and Randy, 2-months.

Firemen from the Tri-Township Volunteer Department managed to save a few of the household furnishings. Stored in the upstairs of the house and destroyed in the blaze were donations given to Stander's mother, Mrs. Chester Stander and her family after the family lost their belongings in a fire at their home in Bucyrus on Thanksgiving Day.

The Stander home is located about five miles north of Bucyrus on State Rt. 19. It is owned by Stanley Frallick of near Bucyrus.

Mr. Stander is unemployed.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Dean and Mrs. Willard Kern, troop leaders, Mrs. Charles Littleton, Mrs. W. S. Haberman and Mrs. Donald Rupp, troop committee members and Mrs. James Taylor. 'Christmas Fun,' Operetta, Will Be Given by Students

"Christmas Fun," an operetta in three acts, will be given by students in grades one through six

Frank Russell Donald Donohoo

Cindy McCorkle Joe Hickman

at Waldo School Thursday at 7:45 p.m.

Youngsters holding lead roles in the cast will be Cindy McCorkle as mother, Donald Donohoo as father, Frank Russell as grandfather and Joe Hickman as Mr. Pennywhistle. Other roles will be played by Pamela Wiseman, Jeffrey Schweinfurth and Jim Gerfen.

Students in each grade will participate in several choruses, depicting bakers, butlers, French maids, country cousins, delivery boys, stockings, wreaths and Christmas bells.

The scene takes place in the Martin home on Christmas Eve where gaiety marks the trimming of the Christmas tree. Everyone joins in the festivities except grandfather.

Like Scrooge, he feels Christmas is utter foolishness. Asked to assist Santa Claus at the school, he stamps out of the house in disgust. But before the play is over he has had a convincing change of heart in many ways.

Teachers of each grade are in charge of costumes.

Also appearing on the program will be the junior band playing four carols in which the audience will participate by community singing.

The entire program is under the direction of Mrs. Martha Rice, instrumental and vocal music instructor.

Arraignment Delayed In Portsmouth Slaying

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — A Portsmouth chiropractor charged with strangling his mother has until Wednesday to find an attorney and enter a plea.

Charles A. Stockham, the accused, was arraigned Monday in Municipal Court here. The 35-year-old chiropractor declined to enter a plea until he is represented by a lawyer and the hearing was adjourned until Wednesday.

Stockham's mother, Mrs. Lucy Stockham, 66, was strangled Saturday night. Deputies said Stockman admitted attacking her after a quarrel.

Whetstone School District May Combine With North Robinson

BUCYRUS — The elimination of Whetstone School as a high school and transfer of the Whetstone School District to the North Robinson School District were proposed today by school boards of the Jefferson, North Robinson and Whetstone districts.

The consolidation of the Whetstone District with North Robinson, which already has absorbed the Jefferson District, was agreed upon by the three boards after a state department of education inspector had recommended that the high school at Whetstone be discontinued. The Whetstone School has been operating on a temporary charter since January, 1952.

A statement issued by the three boards reads as follows:

"The members of the three boards unanimously agreed, unofficially, with the following proposals:

"1. Pupils in grades nine through 12 in the Whetstone School District will be tuitioned to the North Robinson High School, beginning in September, 1959.

"2. A proposal to transfer the Whetstone School District to the North Robinson School District will be submitted to Whetstone District voters in 1959.

"3. A proposal will be submitted to voters to acquire sufficient funds to construct a new four year high school building on a site just north and adjacent to the existing North Robinson building.

"4. The present buildings at Leesville, North Robinson and Whetstone are to be used as elementary buildings for the district.

"Since it is the desire of the boards to comply with the will of the majority of the people in their district, no official action will be taken until sufficient time has elapsed to allow boards to contact the voters. This should be done by March 1, 1959."

School To Present Musical Program

Several scenes from Christmas cards will be enacted on the program. One, entitled "Santa Packs His Bag," will feature students from the first six grades.

Other numbers will be presented by the high school mixed chorus and girls chorus, the seventh and eighth grade girls chorus and the seventh grade boys chorus.

The reader for the performance will be Ruth Ann Blue, and the pianist will be Beverly Everett. Directing the program is Miss Lemore Rice, music instructor.

Offensive Improvements Sought by Prexy Squad

The Star Sports

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1958 THE MARION STAR PAGE 16

Knodel Dissatisfied With Team's Attack

The Harding High School basketball squad was slated for extensive offensive drills today and the rest of the week as Coach Don Knodel readies his charges for Friday night's Buckeye Conference invasion by Findlay.

"We will go right back to fundamentals," Knodel said Monday after a weekend of studying Friday night's 58-51 defeat at Sandusky. "That is where we got into trouble," he said. The squad spent Monday's drill session brushing up on those fundamentals and will be working on team offense today.

"WE GOT BEAT on the boards," the Prexy coach said of the Sandusky loss. "And their defense (a switching man to man) bothered us. Our outside men just couldn't work the ball in."

"We made so many offensive mistakes on simple fundamentals that hurt us," he continued. The Presidents were stalled by 17 bad passes as well as five other fumbles. "Against a good ball club you don't do that and expect to win," Knodel told his cagers. "Had we won the game we wouldn't have deserved it."

"We just weren't hungry enough," he continued. "Their aggressiveness beat us." The Streaks clogged the middle on the Prexies and also controlled the boards in rolling to their first win in conference play. As a result of their rebounding, the Streaks limited Harding to 46 shots from the floor. The Prexies connected on 18 of those for a 39 per cent average but were limited to one shot on most of their offensive thrusts.

"IT LOOKED pretty bad in that last half but our guys didn't quit. They were hustling all the way in that last quarter," Knodel said. "If we can cut down on those fundamental mistakes, I think we will be all right from here on."

"We had a few defensive lapses that hurt us but overall I thought we did a pretty good job defensively," he added. Thus far, the Harding defense has given up 195 points for an average of just under 49 points a game. The local team has scored 257 for an average of just over 64 a game.

Some changes in the Harding attack may be forthcoming, however. Knodel hints that some shifting of players might be necessary. "We need somebody who can take charge out there on the floor," he said. Thus far the Prexies have been unable to find a sparkplug and Knodel feels that problem might be solved with a few player shifts.

The Trojans will move in here Friday night still smarting from a 54-44 loss at the hands of Elyria Friday night. That win stamped the Pioneers, defending champions, as the team to beat for this year's crown. A loss to Findlay would seriously hurt Harding's chances at the title.

THE PIONEERS and Trojans were heavy pre-season favorites to fight it out for the crown with Harding and Lorain rated with outside chances. Lorain won its opening test Friday against Fremont 65-40.

Leading Bob Werley's Trojan squad into action here Friday will be Charles Hickle, a six-foot veteran of three years. Hickle pumped in 322 points last year to lead the Findlay squad. Also back from last year are both starting guards, Bill Lee, a 6-1 scoring threat, and Hugh Davis, a 5-11 speedster. Lee pumped in 269 points last year while Davis recorded 153.

Findlay rolled to three wins prior to falling to Elyria. The Trojans whipped Berea 68-63, Defiance 39-25 and Mansfield 50-32.

Yankee Staff Posts Top AL Mound Mark

CHICAGO (AP) — The New York Yankees pitching staff, headed by Whitey Ford and Bob Turley, again topped the American League in performance the past season.

Official league statistics released today show the Yankee staff posted a 3.22 earned run average far ahead of second place Baltimore's 3.40. Ford, the chunky southpaw, led all individuals with a 2.01 mark.

Detroit was third with a 3.59 average, followed by Chicago's 3.61, Cleveland's 3.73; Boston's 3.92, Kansas City's 4.15 and Washington's 4.53.

Pierce In Second Spot

Trailing Ford among the individual leaders were southpaw Billy Pierce of Chicago with 2.68, southpaw Jack Harshman of Baltimore with 2.90, right-hander Frank Lary of Detroit with 2.91, left-hander Billy O'Dell of Baltimore with 2.97, right-hander Turley with 2.98 and right-hander Cal McLish of Cleveland with 2.99.

Turley was the league's only 20-game winner with a 21-7 record and a .750 percentage — tops among pitchers who worked 154 or more innings. Second to Turley in victories was Pierce with 17.

Despite his great record, Turley again led the loop in walks with 128, only two of which were intentional.

Turley, Pierce and Lary tied for most complete games with 19, while Ford was tops in shutouts with seven. Turley had six.

Washington's Pete Ramos, fast-balling right-hander, faced the most batsmen, 1,015; allowed the most hits, 277; the most homers, 38; the most runs, 133, and started the most games, 37. Lary pitched the most innings, 260.

Wynn Sets Pace

Chicago right-hander Early Wynn was tops with 179 strikeouts and upped his career total to 6,037.

Two no-hit games were recorded. Jim Bunning, Detroit right-hander, accomplished the feat against Boston, July 20; and Baltimore right-hander Hoyt Wilhelm, a National League castoff, came through against the Yankees exactly two months later.

Whirlaway in 1942 and Citation in 1948 won the Pimlico Special in walk-overs. The Calumet Farm color bearers scared away all competition.

SEEK FIRST LEAGUE WIN. Waldo High School's cage squad will play host to New Bloomington Friday night as it seeks its first win in Marion County League action. The squad has bowed before Pleasant and Ridgedale in its two starts thus far. Members of the squad include (front row, left to right) Bob Bender, Henry Russell, John Rengert, Jim Ward, Kenny Edwards, Brent Beringer and Jim Geston, manager. Second row: Jim Axline, manager, Chuck Temple, Dave Augenstein, Dick Klingel, Doug Denzer, Harry Dutt, Danny Dunlap and Coach Jim Stahl.

Kansas State Absorbs First Cage Setback

By The Associated Press

Kansas State, much to its chagrin, found out "you can't win 'em all." But undefeated Kentucky breathed a sigh of relief today after surviving a close call.

Kansas State lost its first Monday night, 77-68 to Brigham Young at Provo, Utah.

Second-ranked Kentucky beat upstart Maryland 58-56 in overtime at Lexington. It was Kentucky's sixth straight victory.

Boozer Injures Knee

The K-State Wildcats played most of the game without their 6-8 stalwart, Bob Boozer. He twice wrenched his left knee and was used only about 10 minutes, scoring eight points.

Kentucky had to win the hard way after trailing by three points with three seconds to play in regulation time. Benny Coffman drove in for a three-point play and set the game into overtime.

Adolph Rupp's Cats tallied four points on a basket by Johnny Cox and Dick Parsons' pair of free throws and then staved off the Terps, whose record is 1-3.

Eighth-ranked Mississippi State was the only other member of the top 10 to see action Monday night. Bailey Howell produced 38 points as the Maroons romped over Arkansas State 98-71 for their sixth straight triumph.

Big Ten Teams Win

Elsewhere, the Big Ten Conference beat three nonleague foes. Illinois built a 16-1 lead and coasted to a 68-46 victory over Iowa State, Wisconsin led all the way in downing Missouri 68-60 and Purdue broke loose in the second half to turn back College of the Pacific 78-62 as Lea Wilson netted 26.

Seattle, No. 16 was the only other ranked team to play. The Chieftains, who seemingly have not missed Elgin Baylor in the early going, beat Portland State 85-36 for their fifth success in a row.

Cincinnati Clings to Slight Lead in College Cage Poll

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati, Kentucky and Kansas State kept on winning basketball games last week and held their 1-2-3 positions in the second weekly Associated Press ranking poll.

But the ballots of 105 sports writers and broadcasters made it a lot closer contest for first place than a week ago.

Averaging 96 Points

Cincinnati's Bearcats, who have maintained a 96-point scoring average while winning their first three games this season, edged out Kentucky by just one first-place vote and 28 points. Cincinnati had 40 firsts and 938 points, on the usual basis of 10 points for each first, 9 for second, etc. Kentucky had 39 and 910.

Cincinnati rolled over Marshall 106-86 in its only game last week while Kentucky beat Southern Methodist 72-60 and St. Louis 76-57.

In the first weekly AP poll Cincinnati was ahead of Kentucky 38-20 in first places and 834-695 in points.

Kansas State, winner over California and San Francisco by a total of four points, held third place with 741 points.

Mountaineers Defeated

West Virginia, fourth a week ago, suffered a 75-72 setback at Virginia's hands Saturday after winning its first five games and dropped to seventh, barely beating out Mississippi State. North Carolina State and Tennessee moved up one notch to fourth and fifth. Northwestern, idle last week, jumped from tenth to sixth as Kansas and St. Louis were knocked out of the first 10.

Xavier of Ohio and North Carolina took over ninth and tenth places.

The top 10, with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Cincinnati (40)	938
2.	Kentucky (39)	910
3.	Kansas State (9)	741
4.	N.C. State (5)	456
5.	Tennessee	431
6.	Northwestern (2)	309
7.	West Virginia (4)	284
8.	Mississippi State (2)	275
9.	Xavier	203
10.	North Carolina (1)	155

The second 10: Bradley and Michigan State, 123 each; Auburn 114; St. Joseph's (Pa.) 97; California 71; Seattle (2) 50; St. Louis 47; Pittsburgh 39; UCLA 35; Southern Methodist 34.

Bob Weston topped the winning attack with 20 points while Jim Riley added 15 and Jay Flach finished with 14. Berl Hilborn scored 20 points to lead the losers with Ron Craycraft netting 16.

North-South Gridders Will Play by Pro Rules

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Although they won't get paid, college players in the North-South game Dec. 27 will play by professional football rules.

Officials will move goal posts at the Orange Bowl to the goal line and allow free substitutions. Quarterbacks can talk to their coaches at the sidelines during time outs.

Tropical Flies Chief Concern Of Cup Teams

PERTH, Australia (AP) — The big worries of the American and Italian players preparing for the Davis Cup interzone tennis finals this weekend are not lobs and volleys. The real problem is the flies.

This West Australian capital, with its subtropical climate, breeds a strange crop of these pesky insects.

"You have to try to brush a half dozen away before you return service," said Ham Richardson, "and they don't brush easily. They are hard to discourage."

Peruvian Alex Olmedo, Richardson's cup teammate from the University of Southern California, said "You get ready to hit the ball and buzz, buzz, one of these things will land in your ear or park on your nose."

Young Earl Buchholz of St. Louis said "I feel like a horse out there. You know how horses keep twitching and jerking to discourage flies? I find myself doing the same thing."

The players are experimenting with spices and ointments designed to keep the flies at a distance, but none has been successful.

RETAINS CASTING CUP

NEW YORK (AP)—John Tarantino, 21-year-old University of California junior from San Francisco, won the world casting title for the second straight year at Brussels. He retained the elaborate Garcia Cup by piling up 13,958 points in the International Casting Federation tourney.

No Looking Back

Brownies Prepare For Title Struggle

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns were crushed—many of them in tears—after Sunday's 13-10 loss in New York, Coach Paul Brown admits. But, he adds, that will make a victory next Sunday all the sweeter.

"It's tough to have to go through that wringer all over again," Brown told the Cleveland Touchdown Club Monday. "But they can make it better for themselves by winning this one and then the one with the Colts. That would be the big bonanza."

The balding Brown is not a man to spend much time looking back with regret to his club's pair of losses to the Giants by margins of four and three points. What looking backward is done the rest of this week will be for the purpose of learning facts to win with.

"We'll wind up as tight as we can and take another pass at it," Brown said. "We have as good a chance to do it as the other team.

Both Teams Tough

"They have a good football team, but so do we. I'm not making any apologies for Sunday. Everyone went all out, but some weird things happened."

Sunday's game will be the third meeting of the Giants and Browns in seven weeks.

"We're getting to be like the fighters who used to tour the tank towns, battling each other every week or so until each one knew every move of the other," Brown said. "We'll have a few new wrinkles. They probably will, too."

One such "wrinkle" Brown had ready for last Sunday was the first Cleveland offensive play of the afternoon on which fullback Jim Brown raced 65 yards to a touchdown.

Although he has built a reputation as the game's great organizer and technician, Brown has been in football too long to believe coldly scientific planning is enough. He mentioned a third quarter Browns' fumble on a handoff Sunday, and commented:

"It shows the human element involved. We weren't able to execute a simple handoff. Roosevelt Grier came through and bumped Milt Plum's arm. The game changed from that point."

Brown Dislikes Ruling

The Browns missed opportunities, and as coach he missed his share, Brown said. And he made it clear he disliked head linesman Charley Berry's ruling of incomplete pass on a ball Frank Gifford dropped in the last period. "In my mind and heart I thought that ball was fumbled," Brown said.

But to the Giants—who before the game was three minutes old were trailing 7-0 and needed more than a tie to stay alive—Brown gave due credit for a plucky comeback, and "a number of positive things" in turning the tide.

"They made the big plays," he explained, "like catching Ray Renfro, tripping up Bobby Mitchell and Gifford's touchdown pass. Frank made a great play on that one. The cycle of things seems to have been running for them.

"In games like this one and the playoff coming up, you have to make the big play."

Ticket Offices Being Jammed

NEW YORK (AP) — Maybe it is time to destroy a weary legend—that New York is a blase, take-it-in-stride sports town.

The weather outside was subfreezing Monday. Remnants of snow lingered.

Yet football tickets were the hottest item in town.

The tickets were for the game Sunday between the New York Giants and the Cleveland Browns in Yankee Stadium.

Long, chilled lines of fans had stormed the stadium ticket windows until almost midnight Sunday after the Giants' 13-10 victory had set up a tie and a playoff for the Eastern Conference championship in the National Football League.

The Giants' chief downtown ticket outlet at Grand Central Station attracted winding queues of buyers. Season ticket holders jammed the lobby of the Columbus Circle building where the Giants' office is located.

Even the Giants' coach, Jim Lee Howell, was pressed into service at the ticket windows.

Only the players had a day off. Howell was so pleased with the Giants' play that he also declared Tuesday a holiday. Workouts for Sunday's game will start Wednesday. The Browns will practice in Cleveland as they did last week.

Television fans across the nation will see the game on CBS.

Irish Meet Ridgedale

No Changes Scheduled In Catholic Cage Lineup

Marion Catholic Coach Ray Robbins, whose Green and White cagers have yet to taste victory in four games, plans no drastic changes in his lineup for Saturday night's non-league game with Ridgedale.

That was the word this morning from the Irish mentor, as he contemplated the invasion of the Rocket hardcourt to face Bill Phillips' charges.

The pickings have been slim to date for the Robbinsmen. They lost their opener to flashy Upper Sandusky, 78-33. Then they met Mid Ohio Conference defending champion Elm Valley and dropped a 52-42 contest in a loop fracas. Tiffin Caolvert played host to the Irish and treated them shabbily, racking up a 72-56 win Finally, Mount Gilead came to town Saturday night and departed with a 48-41 decision.

INEXPERIENCE has been the bugaboo for the Robbinsmen thus far this season. The Irish pilot has been working with about 11 players in an effort to find a winning combination, but as yet success as been practically nil.

"We look better in practice than we do against an opponent," Robbins asserted this morning. "Mistakes we make in a regular game are never perpetrated in drill sessions."

In the four games to date, Robbins has been working primarily with Tom Rish, 6-6 senior at center, Dennis Blue, a senior, and Dennis Dickerson, a junior at the forwards, and Ted Anderson and Steve Myers a senior and junior respectively at the guards.

In last week's Mount Gilead game, however, Paul Hurney, a sophomore with good promise, got a starting nod. And, Larry Roth, a 5-8 sophomore, also got into the action.

All told, Marion Catholic has been something less than dynamic as a scoring unit. The Irish have tallied 131 points in their four games, compared to 202 for their opponents. "But," says Robbins: "I think we're going to suddenly find ourselves one of these days and begin to assert some authority. Eventually we're bound to shake some of that tenseness with which we've been playing."

—:—

RIDGEDALE IS expected to be a tough customer for the Irish. Phillips' boys have a 3-1 record, counting wins over Wharton, 76-50, Radnor 45-42, and Waldo, 76-28, the latter a Marion County League tilt. The Rockets' only loss was to currently undefeated Prospect by at 68-53 tally.

Ridgedale has been going along with six players, five of whom are lettermen. George Young, a 6-1 senior, has been at center, with Jack Clark, 6-foot and Joe Moore, 6-1, both seniors, holding down the forward spots, and Walt Breitigan, 5-3 junior, and either Fred Moore, 5-8 junior or Steve Williams, 15-10, also a junior, at the guards.

The Rockets, who, according to Phillips, "have not come along quite as I expected," have been shooting from the field at an average of 40 per cent and have accomplished foul shots at a 50 per cent clip.

Bobcats Lose After Winning Three Straight

By The Associated Press

One Ohio college basketball winning streak has come to an end, but another rolls merrily on.

After winning three straight, the Bobcats of Ohio University couldn't quite make it against Morehead (Ky.) State College Monday night, falling 75-73 on the winners court.

But in eastern Ohio, the College of Steubenville easily doubled its opponent's output to win its seventh game of the season, 30th in a row and 56th on the home court. The victim was the College of Wheeling, W. Va., and the score was 95-46.

In the other two games Monday night involving Ohio colleges, Youngstown romped to a 108-81 victory over Culver-Stockton of Canton, Mo., and Findlay pulled away in the last 10 minutes for a 90-77 win over John Carroll of Cleveland. Both games were played on the victors' home floors.

Edison Grabs Overtime Win

Edison Junior High School came from behind Monday afternoon at Pleasant to nail a 36-32 overtime victory.

Coach Jim Getz' charges dropped behind 9-2 in the first period and trailed at the half by a 22-14 margin. They were still off the pace 27-23 at the start of the final frame. Then the Edison attack perked up to knot the score at 29-29 at the end of the regulation time.

The winners held a 17-12 edge in field goals but added only two points at the foul line while Pleasant was collecting eight points at the charity stripes.

Bill Smith led the Edison attack with 11 points while Keith McFann netted 8 and Tom Miller finished with 7. Prider was high for the losers with 13.

Pleasant's reserves grabbed a 33-19 win in the preliminary contest. Lichtenberger pumped in 13 points to lead the way while Jim Showers and Dave Trent scored six each for Edison.

Next action for Edison will be Thursday when it visits Eber Baker for a league clash.

Fire Destroys Shop

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — It took 40 firemen from four communities almost an hour to bring under control a fire in nearby Grand River Monday night. The blaze destroyed the repair shop and 12 automobiles at John's Motor Sales. The shop owner, John Pasquarelli of North Madison, said flames originated in the paint room of the one-story concrete building.

Calhoun Wins Unanimous Decision Over Tiger Jones

CLEVELAND (AP) — Middleweight Rory Calhoun can absorb plenty of punishment and still be dangerous. Ask Ralph (Tiger) Jones.

Calhoun, cut near both eyes in the early rounds of a 10-round bout with Jones Monday night, kept hammering away and earned a unanimous decision. The victory avenged a loss to Jones in Madison Square Garden last month.

Baslio Gets Offer

Larry Atkins, promoter of the scrap, said he had offered Carmen Basilio $25,000 to meet the winner. However, the former welterweight and middleweight champion did not say whether he would accept the match.

The 24-year-old Calhoun of White Plains, N. Y., staggered Jones in the sixth, seventh and 10th rounds, although he had trouble seeing because of the cuts.

Calhoun at 158½ had a 4½-pound weight advantage over his 30-year-old Yonkers, N.Y., opponent.

The close fought battle brought the 6,415 fans at the Cleveland News toyshop fund fight show to their feet cheering in the final minutes.

But rooters for Jones, who was a 7-5 underdog, booed the decision. Judge Herb Williams scored 48-45, Judge Charles Bill scored 45-44 and Referee Mike Minnich had it 47-43, all for Calhoun. The Associated Press gave Calhoun a 46-45 edge.

Concerned Over Cuts

Minnich showed concern about Calhoun's cuts in the fifth round, but decided against stopping the battle. Calhoun was gashed over the right eye in the first round and was cut under the left eye in the fifth.

When the sixth round started Calhoun, who trailed in the early fighting, stormed into Jones. He staggered him with two right hand punches and had Jones pinned in a corner for much of the round.

Again in the seventh Jones was staggered, but he slowed Calhoun down with some sharp punches of his own.

In the last two rounds the pair slugged away in vicious head-to-head exchanges. Jones landed well. Calhoun hit hardest.

A third cut was opened on Calhoun's forehead and Jones was bleeding from the mouth at the fight's end.

State Authorizes Paving of Runway At Athens Airport

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A snow storm has apparently convinced state officials that the airport runway here needs paving.

Athens would become the seat of Ohio's government in case of enemy attack. But during a civil defense evacuation exercise earlier this month, Gov. C. William O'Neill was unable to fly here because snow covered Ohio University Airport. He had to drive.

Monday, President John C. Baker of Ohio University announced the State Emergency Control Board has authorized $195,000 to pave 3,500 feet of the airport's runway. Contracts will probably be awarded this spring, he said, and the project completed by late summer.

In Columbus, the state director of finance, John A. Skipton, said federal civil defense funds may become available to partially repay the state for the cost. The airport will be used by planes of the State Highway Department, Highway Patrol, Forestry Division and Ohio Air National Guard.

Radio and Television

By MARIE TORRE

'And Then Miss Maxwell Met . . .'

Out of the Jack Paar Stable, an impressively active talent bin, comes a babbling graduate named Elsa Maxwell, who's about to seek her own TV fortune. Around the world, you might say.

Marie Torre

Always eager to share her experiences with the world at large, the itinerant Miss Maxwell has adopted a manned television film camera to record her social campaigns among statesmen, generals, opera singers, royalty and the usual riffraff from Burke's Peerage and the Almanach de Gotha.

With these reels, to be shot in New York as well as abroad, Miss Maxwell will launch a syndicated series for United Artists Television to be known as "RSVP," same title as the autobiographical book in which she told about the social lions she had bagged in her lifetime.

FOR THE EFFUSIVE Miss Maxwell, the TV project holds infinite joy.

"This is what I've wanted all my life—an opportunity to let people meet the kings and queens and the jockeys," enthused Miss Maxwell. "People love to see how they live on the other side of the tracks."

For the initial stanza of "RSVP," however, viewers will have to be content with a mere prince and a television star.

"The other night," she explained, "I did the pilot show on video tape with two men I adore—Jack Paar and Aly Khan. I interviewed them during most of the half hour, then I did a little commentary of my own.

"That's the format of the show—interviews and commentary. It's a perfect format for me, and the people at United Artists said it was just wonderful, the flatterers! I probably looked awful."

At the moment, Miss Maxwell's associates are showing the pilot tape to prospective clients, and chances are that it will find willing buyers long before "the eighth wonder of the world" (as George Bernard Shaw used to call her) sets out on her annual spring pilgrimage, to the playlands of Europe.

The show's theme song? "And then I met . . ."

THE TIME PERIOD assigned to the welcome repeat of "An Evening With Fred Astaire" on NBC is 10 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 28. . . .

Frankie Darro, remembered as one of the Dead End Kids in movies (and would like us to forget it), turned up as a jockey in Monday night's "Peter Gunn." Darro is now 45. . . .

Ernie Kovacs faces up to the challenge of whimsy, an elusive TV commodity, in "Symbol of Authority," a "Desilu Playhouse" program scheduled to go before cameras this week . . . .

Louis Prima and Keely Smith have joined with a partner, Irving H. Levin, formerly a motion picture executive, to produce a musical situation comedy starring the Primas. Dealing with the everyday life of a group of musicians, with emphasis on the husband - wife relationship between Prima and Miss Smith, the series will start filming at MGM in January. . . .

TV budget of Laurence Olivier's "Moon and Sixpence" will be in excess of $300,000. . . .

Burr Tillstrom, whose old "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" show revives fond memories, has been called on to work in the pilot film of Ginger Rogers' planned series at NBC.

LEST THE Christmas merrymaking gets out of hand at CBS, the network management urged caution in rhyme. An interoffice memo stated:

"Christmas comes but once a year,
"And when it comes it brings good cheer.
cheer.
"But if you hope to make it last
"And plan to organize a blast,
"A CBS directive says:
"'No' parties on the Premises.'
"Of course you're welcome, one and all,
"To rent a room or hire a hall,
"To gather 'round you true and tried,
"But, please, to do it all outside.
"A camera, says execs who watch,
"Won't function well submerged in Scotch."

Request Granted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Don't send me to county jail," pleaded Duke Collins, a veteran of many arrests. "I can't stand the smog downtown." The judge, who had found Collins guilty of drunkenness, sentenced him to 30 days in the city's smog-free jail in the San Fernando Valley.

Christmas Wreath Salad Features Cranberries

For a refreshing note at Christmas, try this holiday salad.

Eye-catching as a Christmas wreath is the Spiced Peach Cranberry Ring. Peach halves are molded in lemon gelatine atop a tangy combination of fresh, chopped raw cranberries and orange.

Spiced Peach Cranberry Ring

1 can (1 pound 14 ounces) peach halves
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 3-inch cinnamon stick
¼ cup vinegar
1 package (3 ounces) lemon flavored gelatine
1 cup fresh cranberries
½ medium orange, unpeeled, seeded.

Drain peaches. Measure syrup; add enough water to make 2 cups. Stir in spices and vinegar; simmer 10 minutes. Add peaches; simmer 5 minutes. Remove peaches; place cut side up in 1-qart ring mold. Strain syrup; add to gelatin; stir until dissolved.

Pour ½ of mixture over peaches; chill until firm. Meanwhile, put cranberries and orange through fine blade of food chopper; add to remaining peach syrup; cool. Pour over firm peach layer; chill until firm.

Unmold on lettuce. Serve mayonnaise or salad dressing in cup in center of ring. Makes 8 servings.

Chief Witness in Conspiracy Trial Admits Fake Testimony

CLEVELAND (AP) — A chief witness for the government in a recent conspiracy trial has admitted that he went AWOL from the U. S. Army in 1926.

Fred L. Gardner, 52, now an organizer for the hod carriers union in western states, had testified in the trial last January that he had not been in the armed forces.

His testimony then helped convict seven persons. They were charged with falsely swearing that they were not communists. Affidavits are required of union officials by the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, specifying they are not communists.

They asked Federal Court for an acquittal or a new trial, and Monday Judge Paul C. Wick began a hearing on their petition. The defendants are attacking Gardner's testimony, contending he cannot be believed.

Gardner admitted Monday that he had enlisted when he was 15 by lying about his age, once was court martialed for being AWOL, and then in 1926 went AQOL and never returned.

Stephen M. Young, now a senator-elect for Ohio, was one of the defense attorneys in the case and was called as a witness Monday.

U. S. District Attorney Sumner Canary asked Young why he had quizzed Gardner about the Army. Young said Gardner had been testifying that he was fired as an organizer for the United Electrical Workers because an affair with a woman whose husband had gone into the Army in World War II.

"I noticed that two or three of the jurors were older women who might have had sons in the armed forces," said Young. "A juror in the front row was wearing an American Legion pin. So I was thinking of World War II and asked Gardner if he had been in the armed forces."

The seven who were convicted and seek a new trial are Marie Reed, her husband Fred, and Hyman Lumr, all of Cleveland; Eric Reinthaler of Willowick; James West and Sam Reed, both of Chicago, and Andrew Remes of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Files for New Trial

EBENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—There were errors in the first degree murder trial that convicted Mrs. Eleanora Conklin, 23, of Akron, Ohio, says her attorney. Attorney Lawrence L. Davis filed for a new trial Monday. A jury convicted Mrs. Conklin Friday. She was sentenced to life imprisonment in the smothering of her son, Gary, 3, at a motel.

Club Has Yule Party

Plans were furthered for the dog show Jan. 25 when the Marion Kennel Club held its Christmas party Wednesday at the home of Dr. M. K. Marshall on Uhler Rd. A potluck dinner was served 40 members and guests and games were played for entertainment.

Hays Stresses Need of Sound African Policy

CLEVELAND (AP)—Africa is a pivotal area in the cold war with Russia, says Rep. Wayne L. Hays.

That was a major point in the 48-year-old Democratic congressman's talk Monday night before the Cleveland Council on World Affairs.

"We don't have a coherent policy toward Africa. It's an exercise in futility to try to send highly technical weapons to nations like Ethiopia," said the speaker.

Russia is interested in the Middle East mainly as a route to Africa, he asserted, declaring that "their representatives get down and work with the people."

Hays said America must do the same. "We are going to have to train people to get down to the grass roots for technical assistance. It's going to take sacrifice and money and work," he said.

Annual Christmas Dinner Is Held by Shovel Foremen

Members of the Marion Power Shovel Co. Foremen's Club and their wives held their annual Christmas dinner party at Harding High School Saturday night.

A Christmas tree sent to the school by the club was decorated by the Harding Tri-Hi-Y Club under the supervision of Miss Helen May. Other seasonal decorations were arranged by the wives of some of the foremen.

A turkey dinner was prepared under the guidance of the school's lunch room supervisor, Mrs. Betty Strickland. After the invocation by Clifford Ward, 20 of the school's home economic girls directed by Mrs. Clare Barnhill served dinner to the 300 people attending. Organ melodies were played throughout the dinner period by John Kessler.

After the meal Harold Tobin, the club's president, introduced the company and club officials and thanked the company for sponsoring the event.

A. F. Busick Jr., executive vice president and general manager of the company, spoke on the solemnity cast over this otherwise joyful occasion by the 14-week-old strike. He then paid tribute to the wives of the foremen working at the W. Center St. plant for their "help and understanding during these trying and difficult days." Acknowledgment was also given to the men and their wives for their spirit and cooperation. His talk ended with the hopeful note that the strike might soon come to an end.

Harding High School's Choir, under the direction of L. G. Jones, gave a program of Christmas songs followed by group carol singing led by Merle Lashey and accompanied by Dick Myers at the piano. Elmer Smith, playing Santa Claus and his helpers distributed gifts to a number of the women present. The program was then followed by a social hour.

Club members heading Christmas party committees were Harold Tobin, Carl Ebert, Dan Matthews, Jim Creager and Willard Benson. General chairman was Keith Betler.

Cardington Votes To Issue Permits For Use of Dump

CARDINGTON—Cardington Village Council Monday night adopted an ordinance regulating commercial refuse haulers in the village.

The ordinance provides that commercial refuse and garbage haulers obtain a permit from the village mayor to dump refuse in the village dump. The permit will cost $15 a month, payable monthly, semi-annually or annually.

Haulers will be permitted to use the permit for one truck only. Each additional truck must be covered by a separate permit.

The ordinance provides for a fine of up to $50 for commercial haulers who use the village dump without permit.

Local refuse collectors have sent notices to their customers that hauling charges will be increased in order to cover the extra cost of the permits.

Council also passed an ordinace instructing the village treasurer to invest $3,000 from the building fund for the village in Series H U.S. Treasury Bonds. The interest from the bonds will be placed in the building fund for use by the village. The action was taken when it was pointed out that the building fund has a surplus.

What's the matter with it, Skeezix?
Your slant is wrong. The big pleasure of gifts is in giving them—not in receiving them.
I merely figure on offering everybody a Christmas breathing spell.
If you deprive folks of the privilege of giving, you take all the joy out of it.
Okay. You do it your way—I'll do it mine.

Premier Feared Doublecross

Serov Is Seen as Victim Of Khrushchev's Errors

By VICTOR RIESEL

I have no secrets. But I have the word of Russian specialists who are constantly talking to those from behind the Bolshoi border that Comrade Prime Minister Khrushchev has run the Soviets into desperate trouble. There are eyewitness accounts of terrific industrial disruption, new forced labor battalions and the simple breakdown of vast quantities of intricate electronic equipment without which no modern state can compete with us.

VICTOR RIESEL

These facts are as basic as water in the Volga and vodka in a Kremlin cellar. What is a guess, albeit a scientific guess, is the belief of men in Munich's intelligence centers that Tovarich Khrushchev dumped the head of the secret police, Gen. Ivan Serov, because the party chief feared that the opposition would use the economic chaos as an excuse to depose him — and that Serov, the shifty, would be used against him.

There are just a handful of men who really know how close Gen. Serov has been to the opposition, "the Stalinists," the anti-party people, the men Khrushchev fears.

It was Serov, for example, who was aide to the missing Gen. Georgi Zhukov and kept his eye on an American general named Eisenhower back in the first days of Berlin's joint occupation.

IT WAS SEROV who, as Stalin's special agent, rounded up Germany's atomic and rocket scientists before our intelligence services could get to them and save them, as Wernher von Braun, now probing the heavens for us, was saved.

It was Serov who was the key counter intelligence operative in Stalin's personal secretariat. The little murderer (forgive my passion for understatement) worked directly for Stalin's most intimate aide and personal secretary Comrade A. N. Poskrebyshev.

Serov took orders from Georgi Malenkov, too.

In mob jargon, Serov was Stalin's "gun" or private "enforcer." Serov ran a small secret police unit which specialized in liquidating Stalin's marked men.

Until the other day, Serov personally controlled the virtually unknown political and police sectors of the Communist apparatus inside the army. He helped create this for Stalin — who handed him killer assignments known only to the two of them.

Serov knew, or knows, more about Comrade K. than Khrushchev does and he was the only one with enough personal power to do anything to the boss.

THOSE DETAILEDLY informed men at Munich's listening posts advise us to take these facts and view them against the background of the well-camouflaged industrial chaos inside Russia today.

Add to this the fact that Khrushchev had to face the Soviet Communist party's 21st Congress with its great concentration of delegates. What could he tell his comrades?

He can rattle the timid in the U.S. with a series of intimate revelations in cozy conversations. But his party delegates knew of the new Communist labor brigades in huge factories. These are forced labor units.

As recently as Nov. 25, there were reports in Moscow that these slave labor battalions numbered "millions of people" — and that is a direct quote. This report said:

"Communist labor brigades have appeared and are multiplying all Soviet Republics in various industrial centers, in factories, transport, construction and on the farms."

THESE BRIGADES use youngsters as well as women. They have been taken out of their schools and homes to beef up the labor force and keep production at what will be a marginal living level, at best. They are shoved into cracks on the industrial front as a general throws makeshift military divisions into a line badly hit by the enemy. This report says so in Russia's Aesopian language:

"Leading brigades and workshop personnel who have decided to work in the Communist manner direct their effort primarily towards raising labor productivity in every way. They propose to gain a considerable rise in labor productivity by means of automation, complex mechanization, by acquiring knowledge of modern machinery and technology . . .

"All local party, local governments, trade unions and Komsomol (youth) organizations and leaders in the economy as called upon to support and lead the creative initiative of the participants in the nationwide competition in honor of the 21st Party Congress."

So, Serov may simply be out salvaging nails instead of pulling them out of his prisoners' hands.
